STRONG NEW TALENT: ERNEST TROVA

After optical art, what? A new variety of kinetic art. Ernest Trova, a thirty-eight-year-old St. Louis-born painter and sculptor, whose constructions and metal figures will be on view at the Pace Gallery, New York, in February, is a herald of this light-and-motion style
