Natural global development of civilization is based, naturally, on the development of the global partnership of all its parts to promote its development best. So what is the state of the present global partnership?

At present there is no global partnership because of the general ideological crisis. The main obstacle to global partnership now is the inadequacy of the current regime in Russia. It is impossible to overthrow that regime either from inside or from outside the country without unacceptable risks. However it would be possible to do so by properly joining these two forces, the revolutionary movement inside Russia and the international assistance from outside, as was the case during the WW2. The above reasoning suggests two separate strategies – one for the revolutionary movement in Russia, another for the international assistance for it.

The revolutionary movement in Russia

The purpose of the current revolutionary movement in Russia is to overthrow the present criminal oligarchical regime and replace it with the People's Power, Narodovlastie, the true socialism. At present there is already a scientific program for such a movement.

The revolution is supposed to consist of three stages:

- (1) the liberation of speeches, meetings and organizations;
- (2) the establishing of competent socialist bodies of power;
- (3) the overthrowing of the oligarchical regime and replacing it with Narodovlastie.

The first stage of the revolution is supposed to take the form of persistent efforts, an armed struggle, acts of civil war, aimed at establishing and protecting the alternative, socialist, bodies of power in the federal and regional centers.

The second stage of the revolution would take the form mainly of a political competition of the socialist bodies of power with the existing, oligarchical, bodies of power, the competition aimed at winning public authority by the new bodies of power and proving their superiority over the existing bodies of power.

The third stage of the revolution is supposed to take the form of removing all remaining vestiges of the former oligarchical regime, creating a full-fledged socialist state and starting the creation of the global partnership cooperation.

International assistance to the current revolutionary movement in Russia

The present regime in Russia has no other purpose but to provoke a nuclear world war and to kill civilization; it is a deadly geopolitical virus; it just has no other ideology. The origin of that virus is the present general ideological crisis. Civilization has lost its way and has no ideology for the progressive guidance. The current Covid-19 pandemic seems to be one of possible mechanisms to kill civilization. Others will follow.

There is still a way for survival – a scientific ideological reform of modern society. Such a reform would make it possible to start global organization of civilization into its global partnership cooperation. We, The New Marxists of Russia, having a scientific program for organizing civilization and, looking for a way to settle the above ideological crisis, take on initiative and assign ourselves as the European Supreme Intendant (ESI) with the above task; therefore, we propose the administrations of the EU and the USA, as well as the administrations of other countries to follow our instructions in this respect.

The ideology of the reform suggests the following strategy of the international assistance for the current revolutionary movement in Russia. The first stage of assistance is an ultimatum to the President of the Russian Federation as follows:

We, the Government of the EU and the President of the USA, taking into account the present repressive political regime in RF preventing the world community from organizing the global partnership cooperation, necessary for a normal peaceful life, and creating increasingly risks of a global nuclear conflict, we propose you to issue a Presidential decree proclaiming the Freedom of Speech, Meetings and Organizations on the territory of the RF. Otherwise, we will have to take measures depriving the Russian Federation of all contacts, except for a humanitarian nature, with the EU and the USA – in two weeks, and of access to the global SWIFT service – in a month.

The second stage of assistance is the following. Taking into account:

- (1) that the international situation has been continuously increasing the risk of a nuclear world war between USA (NATO) and Russia;
- (2) that neither the administration of the US nor that of the EU has an ideology of peaceful global development, so that it is not clear who, where and for what purpose leads currently civilization; we issue the following instruction concerning Ukraine.

Taking into account that :

- (1) the oligarchical regime, like that currently in Ukraine, generates slavery, corruption, dependence on foreign corporations whose interests are usually foreign to the Ukrainian people and hinder their development;
 - (2) the President Zelensky often mentioned the regime of Narodovlastie in his presidential speech as the desired purpose of the Ukrainian people;
 - (3) at present there is a scientific program for transition from oligarchical regime to Narodovlastie;
 - (4) the Ukrainian people is prepared for such a transition better than others;
 - (5) transition to Narodovlastie, the true socialism, would promote the solution of all current political, economic and cultural problems in Ukraine;
- we issue the following instruction:

In order to minimize the risk of nuclear war with Russia and replace the current inhuman and strategically dangerous regime there with a true, scientific socialism, we call upon the Administrations of the USA and the EU to assist us in overthrowing the current oligarchical regime in Ukraine first.
