Bank wants to know if we are same llc and if I'm just doing business as Bailey general contracting. That would be handy. I keep same account and not pay for another llc. Seems like that's what you're doing. But remember I'm kinda ignorant

Yes. I checked the license and sos today and they were changed.
A single partner llc is reported on you personal tax return just to let you know. So only one federal return is needed. A 1040
