Aaron Solomon – Accused Murderer

Grant Solomon – Murder Victim

“Seven Minutes In Gallatin” examines the murder of Grant Solomon in Gallatin, Tennessee on July 20, 2020. “Seven Minutes In Gallatin” is based upon individual statements, emergency responder and police reports, Aaron Solomon’s 911 emergency call, and additional information. The unofficial transcripts of the 911 call and other recordings within this document are primarily focused on the words of Aaron Solomon and are offered as a possible aid for anyone who listens to the recordings. “Seven Minutes in Gallatin” is investigated, examined and written under the protection of Article I, Section 19 of the Tennessee Constitution, and the 1st Amendment of the United States Constitution. If anyone has additional information about the murder of Grant Solomon, please contact Austin Davis at 615-999-8190 or fmdshiloh@aol.com.

Within two hours of saying, “Mom, I don’t want to die in Gallatin today,” Grant Solomon was murdered in Gallatin. The “homicide” case is still uninvestigated by Gallatin Police who quickly determined the case to be a “truck accident.” However, there is a major problem with the case being ruled as a “truck accident.” There are no truck “tire tracks” through the tall grass above the ditch.

On July 20, 2020, Aaron Solomon made a false report to a 911 dispatch operator, and to Gallatin Police: “My son’s truck backed over him and it’s rolled over him and drug him into the ditch and it is on top of him. He’s trapped under the truck, and I, I, yeah he, somehow it drug him underneath... He’s trapped under the truck... He’s underneath the vehicle... somehow it backed up... he was just getting out... we were on an incline and I guess he didn’t have it in park or something, or it wasn’t engaged... I can’t believe this... I don’t know whether it wasn’t in park, or what, or if it didn’t engage the brake, or it drug him underneath somehow...”

In another Tennessee case, Memphis police recently discovered the body of kidnap-murder victim, Ms. Liza Fletcher, after police officers noticed “tire tracks” leading through tall grass to the back of an abandoned house. Ms. Liza Fletcher is the daughter of Mr. Beasley Wellford, a MUS classmate and basketball teammate of Austin Davis, a child sex abuse whistleblower. Austin Davis is also a friend of Grant Solomon’s mother, Dr. Angie Huffines Solomon, and Grant Solomon’s little sister, Gracie Solomon. In the Grant Solomon murder case, the lack of “tire tracks” running through the tall grass prove former WSMV TV news anchor and sports reporter, Aaron Solomon, lied to Gallatin Police to cover-up the murder of Grant Solomon. Grant Solomon had recently turned 18 a month earlier, and he desired to testify as an adult against his father for child sex abuse crimes committed against his little sister, Gracie.

PROLOGUE

At around 8:30 am on the morning of Grant Solomon's murder, a potential murder witness reportedly saw an older man working on a truck in front of the "homicide" scene at Ward Performance Institute (WPI) on 1357 S. Water Street in Gallatin, Tennessee. Per the WPI website, WPI is founded and owned by Turner Ward and Tucker Ward. Turner Ward played Major League baseball from 1990 – 2001. Turner Ward was a member of two Toronto Blue Jays World Series Championship teams in 1992 and 1993. Turner Ward is a former player and coach for the Arizona Diamondbacks, and is presently the assistant hitting coach for the St. Louis Cardinals. It is unknown at this time if Turner Ward knows Hall of Fame baseball hitter, Wade Boggs, Hall of Fame baseball scout, Luke Wrenn, or if he knew Hall of Fame baseball scout, George Digby.

The Almost Perfect Murder

Coach Turner Ward

Coach Ward reportedly went to the Sumner Regional Medical Center after the alleged "truck accident" to check on the welfare of 18-year-old, Grant Solomon. Apparently, Coach Ward was informed that Grant Solomon did not survive the alleged "truck accident." Child sex abuse whistleblower, Austin Davis, the former head baseball coach of the Digby Vols, believes that Coach Ward is a God-fearing decent man who would not harm his own children, or other children. This is a public appeal for Coach Turner Ward, Major League Baseball, and all lovers of baseball, to stand by a young murdered baseball prospect, Grant Solomon, and his grieving mother, Angie, and his little sister, Gracie, and all victims of child sex abuse. Turner Ward played and coached major league baseball for the Arizona Diamondbacks. Former Arizona Diamondback baseball scout, Luke Wrenn, was a long-time friend of Boston Red Sox Hall of Fame baseball scout, George Digby. George Digby was a long-time friend of Boston Red Sox Hall of Fame hitter, Ted Williams. He also signed Boston Red Sox – New York Yankees Hall of Fame hitter, Wade Boggs, to his first baseball contract. George Digby was a long-time friend of Digby Vols head baseball coach, Austin Davis, a friend of Grant Solomon’s mother, Angie, and Grant’s younger sister, Gracie. Austin Davis was introduced to Luke Wrenn and Wade Boggs while working on a book and documentary film project to honor the life of George Digby. At the present time, it is unknown if Turner Ward knew George Digby, or if he knows Luke Wrenn or Wade Boggs.

At the present time, it is also unknown if St. Louis assistant hitting coach, Turner Ward, is friends with, or was contacted by, accused murderer, Aaron Solomon, who visited St. Louis a few months ago. Aaron Solomon visited Busch Stadium in St. Louis to meet Dan Bryan to be Catch# 309 in honor of Ethan Bryan, Dan Bryan's 16-year old son. Accused murderer, Aaron Solomon, was photographed holding a picture of himself with murder victim, Grant Solomon, as he stood next to Dan Bryan who lost his 16-year-old son, Ethan, to a tragic car accident. The plan was to meet at 4pm, have a catch and talk. Aaron then offered to buy tickets to the Cardinals vs Braves game. So the catch and the day were planned, and Aaron would travel north from Nashville.” Dan Bryan Facebook – Sept 4, 2022 – St. Louis , Missouri - Partial Post*

At the present time, it is also unknown if St. Louis Cardinals assistant hitting coach, Turner Ward, ever met or even knows former WSMV TV sports reporter and news anchor, Aaron Solomon.

WPI Homicide Scene – July 20, 2020

Gallatin Police

Turner Ward's son, Tucker Ward, a co-owner and manager of WPI, told Williamson Home Page that he arrived at WPI thirty minutes after the alleged accident. Tucker Ward said the incident was a "tragedy" and he remembered Grant Solomon as a "really good kid." He declined to comment further based on the advice of his attorney. Turner and Tucker Ward's WPI coaching staff have been very helpful in providing critical information which proves Grant Solomon was murdered. To date, the murder of Grant Solomon remains uninvestigated after twenty-seven months, and is still considered a "truck accident" by the Gallatin Police department, TN Attorney General Jonathan Skrmetti, Gov. Bill Lee, and many others.

Plain and simple, Aaron Solomon lied to WPI staff member, Tyler Mark, the 911 dispatch operator, Gallatin Police officers, and other witnesses at the "homicide" scene. In a very deceptive written statement provided to Gallatin Police Officer Kurtis McKelvey, Aaron Solomon stated: "My son Grant & I pulled into WPI separately, parked side by side. I was still in my car, but noticed my son get out to get his baseball gear out of the back of his truck. I looked down to check a work email & the next thing I know I hear and see the truck rolling backwards into the ditch, I get out of my car to try to find my son & saw that he was trapped underneath the truck & immediately called 911."

Gallatin Police Officer Kurtis McKelvey also documented his brief interview of Aaron Solomon in a police report which noted: "Mr. Solomon stated that he was meeting his son Grant at the facility and that he had arrived there first. Mr. Solomon stated that he observed Grant get out of the truck and walk towards the back door area. Mr. Solomon stated that he then noticed that the truck was no longer parked beside him and he started to get out and look and heard a loud crash and observed Grants truck had rolled down the hill and into the ditch. Mr. Solomon stated that he called 911 at that time and attempted to help his son."

Within several months of the "almost perfect murder," Aaron Solomon told two radically different stories about his and Grant's arrival to the WPI baseball facility. Aaron Solomon dramatically changed the original version he told to Gallatin Police, and he told a radically different story that he and Grant happened to catch up with each other on the Vietnam Veterans Parkway in Goodlettsville prior to arriving at WPI in Gallatin. Aaron stated that he followed Grant from Goodlettsville to the WPI facility in Gallatin, and that Grant pulled into the parking lot in front of him at about 8:41 am.

Since Aaron Solomon has told at least two radically different stories about his and Grant's "arrival" to WPI in Gallatin, Gallatin Police should not believe a word Aaron Solomon says about the invented "truck accident" which Aaron Solomon completely fabricated to cover up the murder of his 18-year-old son, Grant Solomon, and to further conceal the substantiated child sex abuse crimes committed against Grant's little sister, Gracie Solomon.

Prior to the “murder” of Grant Solomon, Grant told others he was afraid of his father, and he had not been alone with his father in nearly two years:

<https://www.instagram.com/p/Ch5vE9ZrxMx/>

As expected, Aaron Solomon does not agree that Grant Solomon was afraid of him. Several months after the murder of Grant Solomon, Aaron Solomon told at least one person that he and Grant had been spending five days a week practicing baseball during the Covid pandemic. (The Covid lockdown began on March 15, 2020, and Grant Solomon was “murdered” four months later on July 20, 2020.)

Aaron Solomon said that he and Grant had a lot of good conversations, and that Aaron felt good about their father-son relationship, and the fact that Grant Solomon was about to turn 18 and enter into manhood, which occurred on June 13, 2020, a month before he was murdered.

During Aaron Solomon’s eulogy of Grant Solomon at his “celebration of life” service, Aaron Solomon told the grieving audience he had pitched a ball overhand to Grant since before Grant turned three years old. Aaron Solomon also stated that he had pitched a ball overhand to Grant the previous week.: “So from that moment on, he’s not even three, I threw overhand like that to him... even last week.”

Aaron Solomon also closed his eulogy at Grant Solomon’s “celebration of life” service by telling the grieving audience: “Grant, I will always love you. I am proud to be your dad. And I can’t wait to play catch again with you on that big field of dreams in the sky.”

Grant’s “celebration of life” service was on Saturday, July 25, 2020. Grant Solomon was murdered five days earlier, on Monday, July 20, 2020. Aaron Solomon projected a public image that he had pitched a baseball overhand to Grant, “even last week.”

Some things in life are not easily proved as fact or fiction. Only Aaron Solomon and Grant Solomon truly know if they threw the baseball together during the prior week as stated by Aaron Solomon to a grieving audience at Grace Chapel Church. Unfortunately, Grant Solomon, was lying in a casket in front of his father during his father’s eulogy and was unable to speak for himself.

In the months and years prior to the day of his “murder,” Grant Solomon told family and friends he was fearful of his father. During the suffocating minutes of his slow-motion murder, Grant Solomon’s physical position under the truck would speak posthumously against the lies and deception of his father’s “false report” to the 911 dispatch operator, and his untrue verbal and written statements to the Gallatin Police. About eight days after the “almost perfect murder” of Grant Solomon, Aaron Solomon and his loyal friend, Sam Johnson, went down in the WPI ditch to give a deceptive demonstration for Grant’s grieving mother on how Grant was lying face up with his head on the passenger side of the truck. Per the eyewitness first-hand accounts of first responder, EMT Joshua Gentry, and WPI murder witness, Drew Hall, Grant Solomon’s head was positioned on the driver side of the truck, exactly opposite the passenger side “false story” told by Aaron Solomon, and his loyal friend, Sam Johnson.

EMT Joshua Gentry and Drew Hall said Grant’s head was on the driver side of the truck.

Aaron Solomon and Sam Johnson said Grant’s head was on the passenger side of the truck.

All first responders are also witnesses to the “murder-in-progress” of 18-year-old Grant Solomon.

EMT Joshua Gentry and WPI murder witness, Drew Hall, stated that Grant Solomon's head was positioned on the driver side of the truck. WPI murder witness, Tyler Mark, stated that he never saw Grant Solomon until Grant was extricated. At least one emergency responder report recorded that Grant Solomon's body was physically extricated towards the driver side of the truck. Grant's blood was located on several rocks on the driver side of the truck, along with Grant's goggles. In the photo below, 8 of 9 of the emergency responders were standing on the driver side of the truck. In stark contrast, Aaron Solomon and Sam Johnson told a grieving mother that her beloved son's head was lying face up on the passenger side of the truck.

Tyler Mark did not see Grant's body when he walked half way down the ditch, but Aaron Solomon told a grieving mother that he could see Grant's red shirt and face on the passenger side of the truck from the top of the ditch. EMT Joshua Gentry said that he could not see any portion of Grant's body protruding from the truck, and could only see him by looking up under the truck.

EMT Joshua Gentry and Drew Hall stated Grant's head was on the driver side of the truck.

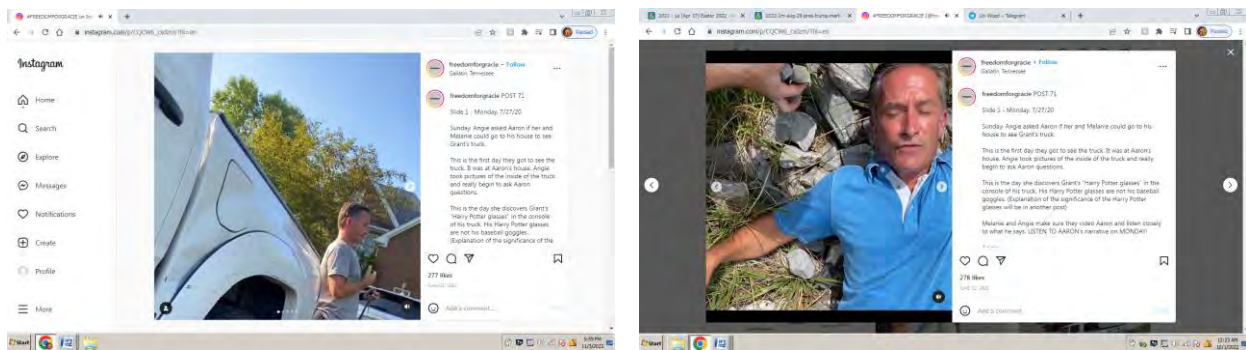

Blood-stained rocks by driver front tire. Grant's goggles.

Aaron Solomon's written statement provided to police contained approximately 87 words. Aaron Solomon basically stated that Grant's truck rolled backwards over Grant dragging him down a steep hill while Aaron Solomon was looking at a work email. Aaron Solomon projected great self-confidence in telling the alleged "truck accident" story, and he even stretched out over the very same rocks, in the very same ditch, to physically demonstrate for Grant's mother how Grant's head was lying "face-up" on the passenger side of the truck during the final moments of Grant's young life. The below left photograph reveals the passenger side of the truck where Grant's head was allegedly lying "face-up" per the testimony of Aaron Solomon.

The above right photograph reveals the driver side of the truck. EMT Joshua Gentry and WPI murder witness, Drew Hall, stated that Grant Solomon's head was positioned on the driver side of the truck, exactly opposite the "false story" told by Aaron Solomon. A blue object, possibly Grant's baseball cap, is lying near the location of Grant's head behind the driver side front tire. To keep it simple, Aaron Solomon lied about Grant's head being on the passenger side of the truck to cover-up the murder of Grant Solomon, and to further conceal the substantiated child sex abuse of Grant's little sister, Gracie Solomon.

About eight days after the “murder” of Grant Solomon, Aaron Solomon projected great self-confidence as he deceived a grieving mother about her son being “face-up” on the passenger side of the truck. About eight days earlier, during the 911 emergency call, Aaron Solomon pretended he didn’t know any of the details about Grant’s “face-up” position when he asked an unidentified bystander if Grant was lying “face-up,” or “face-down,” at the 3:19 time mark of the 911 emergency call. Aaron Solomon is the only known witness to Grant’s “murder,” so he already knew that Grant was lying “face-up” in the rocky ditch, before he, or possibly an unknown murder accomplice, drove the truck forward over the knocked out, unconscious body of Grant Solomon. See Aaron Solomon’s video statements below.

Video 1: “Yes... the back of his head... he was... straight up... looking straight up... so that the back of his head was on the rocks... yes... well, not that tilted back... like he is laying in bed... like he’s laying bed.”

Video 2: “Then it came out like this... To be perfectly honest with you, I think, I don’t know, but I think, this might have been (unintelligible).....I think, ... so the front end is like... here... and he is laying here... and the truck is like this... and it come down and it settled... so you can see the back left bumper, and it must have took the brunt, it must have angled as it came down here, it took the brunt of these rocks first... but it went through... it didn’t stop like this... it settled... and went like that... so..”

Video 4: “He was right in like this neighborhood-ish... so his, his head was inside the tire... there... he was underneath the motor...the left... his head and chest... then his, the left front tire is, probably, here-ish and his feet were behind it... so... so neither one of the tires were physically on him...”

Aaron Solomon also deceived Grant's grieving mother with an invented "story" that Grant's head possibly hit the ground two or three times as Grant tumbled through the rocky ditch. See video: https://www.instagram.com/p/CQCW6\_csdzm/?hl=en

After the "almost perfect murder" of Grant Solomon, Aaron Solomon continued to lie to Grant's mother about how Grant suffered the fatal injury to the back of his head. Angie Solomon desperately asked Aaron Solomon: "But how... but how did the skull crack open and the brain be exposed." Aaron Solomon responded by saying it was the rocks in the ditch. Aaron Solomon stated: "Those rocks... Let's say by chance the back door... caught him... and he... he got knocked out somehow when he first hit... and it drags him through the parking lot, down the ditch, and he tumbles through the ditch.. his head could have hit two or three times."

But Grant's injury report does not support Aaron Solomon's invented "truck accident" that Grant Solomon got caught on the back door, knocked out when he first hit the pavement, and was dragged down the parking lot tumbling into the ditch, possibly hitting the back of his skull two or three times.

Grant's injury report reveals that Grant's arms, torso, and legs suffered no serious outward injury, or bleeding wounds, after allegedly being run over by a truck, dragged down a steep hill, and pulled across large rocks. Again, no arms or legs were broken after a heavy truck allegedly backed over him, and dragged him down the steep hill over large rocks.

Two facts are certain and true. Grant did suffer a single deadly blow to the back of his head. And Grant's baseball bat is still missing.

"My father is a monster... He's a rapist. He's a monster. He's a liar. And he's a killer." Gracie Solomon – A Cry For Help – May 12, 2021.

If Grant Solomon had really been run over by his own truck, and dragged down a steep hill across a rocky ditch, Grant Solomon would have suffered broken bones and major injuries. Instead, Grant Solomon did not have any broken arms, broken legs, or any bleeding wounds below his neck.

freedomforgracie Post 97 - We have the truck!

1. If Grant were standing behind the truck - as Aaron alleges in one version - this would be the approximate points of impact. Grant does not show any injury consistent with this scenario. If he were standing beside the truck - as he alleges in another - even with the door open, it could not have dragged Grant without incurring massive abrasions and injuries which Grant's body did not have.
2. If the truck rolled backward, as Aaron testifies he saw, there would be imprints in the grass in front of the truck. Clearly there are none. The grass stands tall. We also have photo evidence of tire tracks proving the truck pulled forward. See story. Aaron refused a forensic exam of the truck, retrieved the truck from the tow yard himself, and continued to drive it for months clearly unconcerned it would malfunction.

For some unexplained reason, Grant Solomon did not appear to bleed very much at the WPI “homicide” scene for someone who was run over by a truck and dragged down a steep hill over a rocky ditch. It appears that there is very little blood at the WPI “homicide” scene in comparison to another alleged “homicide” scene over in the low country of South Carolina. Either Grant Solomon’s fractured skull injury did not produce very much blood, or his fractured skull injury produced a large amount of blood which never touched the ground at the WPI property. To see the volume of blood produced in an alleged “vehicle-pedestrian” accident which is now reopened as a possible murder case with a baseball bat, watch the second episode of a new documentary entitled: Low Country: The Murdaugh Dynasty

During the past twenty-seven months, Aaron Solomon created a successful cloud of deception and confusion during an “almost perfect murder” which was staged as a tragic “truck accident” at the WPI baseball facility on July 20, 2020. About eight days after the “almost perfect murder,” Aaron Solomon was fearless and brazen to lie down on the very same rocks, in the very same ditch, where Aaron Solomon claimed that Grant Solomon was lying when he was knocked out and unconscious in his final moments of life. Grant Solomon choked and aspirated on his own blood, and ultimately suffered cardiac arrest, during the same period of time when Aaron Solomon stood emotionally detached and distant at the top of the ditch, keeping watch over the “homicide” scene as he repeatedly lied to the 911 dispatch operator.

LIES

Per Aaron Solomon’s own statements, Aaron Solomon did not go down in the ditch to assess the physical injuries to his unconscious son, and he supposedly had no first-hand way of knowing if Grant Solomon had any broken bones, or was bleeding to death, or was knocked out, or if Grant was already deceased, or exactly how Grant was positioned from head-to-toe, unless he lied about his actions prior to making the 911 call from the top of the WPI ditch.

Per Tyler Mark’s statement, Aaron Solomon did not go down in the ditch but stood up at the top of the ditch talking on his cell phone and waiting for the ambulance. However, Tyler Mark’s observation of Aaron Solomon occurred after the alleged “truck accident,” and during the 911 call, not before or during the physical assault and the “slow-motion” murder of Grant Solomon.

Per Aaron Solomon’s video statement, Aaron Solomon told a grieving mother that he did not open the front door, or touch the truck, or touch Grant, after she asked him: “So you never made it down there... and you didn’t open the front door.” Aaron Solomon responded: “No... no, no, no... nobody opened... nobody, nobody touched him, or the truck.”

Aaron Solomon clearly stated that “nobody” had touched Grant, or opened the truck door, or touched Grant’s truck, after the truck rolled backwards, and dragged him down in the ditch.

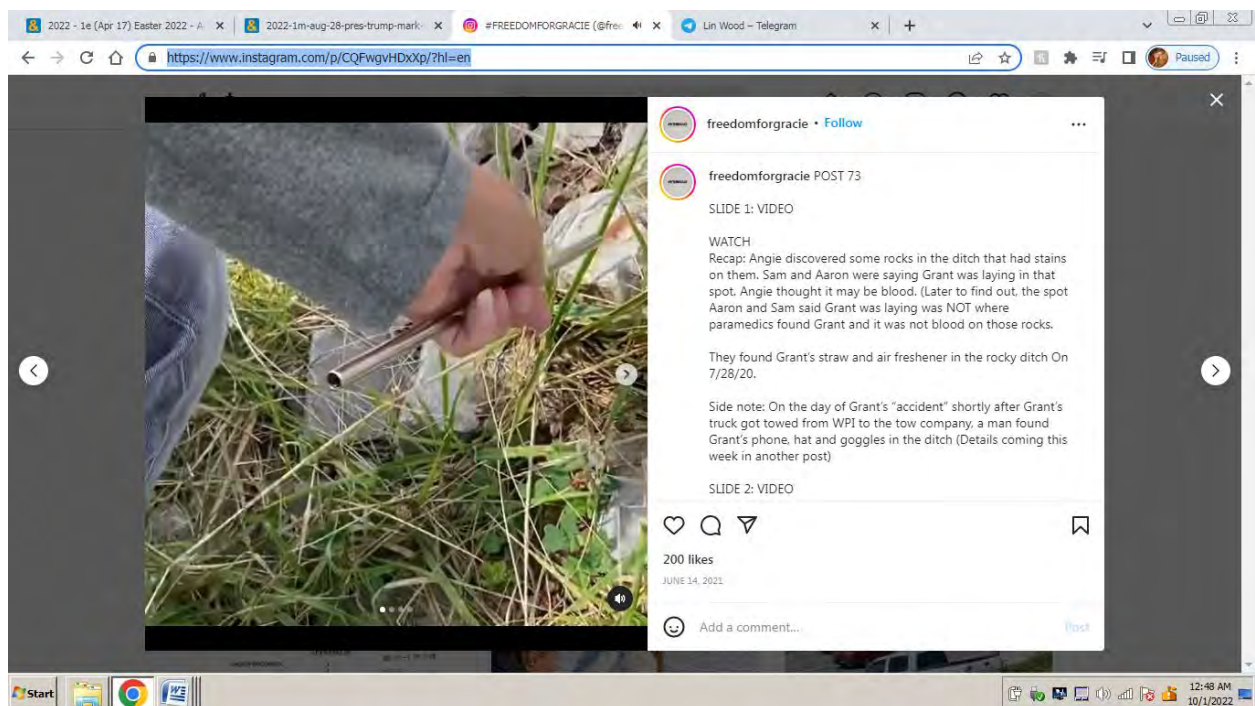

Point in fact, Aaron Solomon was deceitful to state that “nobody” touched Grant’s truck. Grant’s truck did not roll backwards, Grant’s truck did not drive forward by itself, and “somebody” did open the driver door, and “somebody” did intentionally drive the truck forward over Grant’s knocked out body, while Grant was lying “face-up” as though he was “lying in bed.”

About eight days after the “almost perfect murder” of Grant Solomon, Aaron Solomon and his loyal friend, Sam Johnson, took a crying mother down in the ditch where her 18-year-old son was murdered. Aaron Solomon told the grieving mother during the same visit to the “homicide” scene that he did not go down in the ditch when her beloved son was knocked out unconscious up under his truck, bleeding, aspirating, and dying. However, as Angie Solomon, Sam Johnson and Aaron Solomon closely examined rocks and items scattered in the ditch, Sam Johnson and Aaron Solomon revealed that they had possibly returned to the WPI “homicide” scene after the murder of Grant Solomon on July 20, 2020. After a grieving mother found Grant Solomon’s metal straw in the ditch, she asked about another item lying on the ditch. Sam Johnson and Aaron Solomon both told her the item had been laying there for awhile. Aaron Solomon responded: “... I don’t know... some of this stuff... I don’t know if this is from... I don’t think this is from Grant’s truck... I think this has been here... it’s been here awhile.”

Or it is certainly possible that both men had been to the "homicide" scene prior to the meeting with Angie Solomon at the WPI property, on or about, July 28, 2020. Sam Johnson is presently represented by Attorney Todd McMurtry, who also represents Grace Chapel Founding Pastor Steve Berger, along with many other clients, including Nicholas Sandmann, and Kyle Rittenhouse. During the on-going cover-up of Grant Solomon's "murder," Sam Johnson and Pastor Steve Berger appeared on the first episode of Dan Bongino's Fox Nation TV show, "Cancelled in the USA." The inaugural Dan Bongino TV show was first aired on July 19, 2021, almost one year after Grant's "murder" occurred on July 20, 2020. Fox News, WSMV TV, and other corporate owned news companies have still not reported on the murder of Grant Solomon, or the substantiated child sex abuse of Grant's little sister, Gracie. Dan Bongino was provided information about Grant and Gracie Solomon on Nov. 8, 2022.

On Nov 3, 2022, about twenty-seven months after the “almost perfect murder” of Grant Solomon, substantiated child sex abuser and accused murderer, Aaron Solomon, was temporarily denied the opportunity to further torment and abuse Grant Solomon’s little sister in another court proceeding before DCS Administrative Judge Amanda L. Rucker.

Gracie Solomon

By the Providence of Almighty God, Gracie Solomon was spared more abuse under the “color of law” as the appeal hearing was postponed until a new hearing date in March 2023. However, Gracie Solomon remains at great risk if she refuses to participate or to respond to any subpoena for any future hearings because she is sixteen years old and Tennessee Judges do punish and jail citizens for speaking out about child sex abuse. Gracie’s mother, Angie Solomon, and child sex abuse whistleblower, Austin Davis, have both been jailed by Davidson County judges, but protected child-molester Aaron Solomon, and protected child-molester John Perry, have both been given a free pass by Tennessee law enforcement. Dr. Angie Huffines Solomon was jailed on Easter weekend in 2015 by the late Judge Phillip Smith, and child sex abuse whistleblower, Austin Davis, was jailed for 18-days by Judge Cheryl Blackburn on behalf of Judge Steve Dozier in 2017. Additionally, Judge Phillip Smith also ordered a 15-year-old boy to spend six months in the juvenile detention center because he refused to unlock his cell phone during a custody battle between his divorcing parents. If a 15-year old boy can be held in “Contempt of Court,” a 16-year old girl like Gracie Solomon can also be held in “Contempt of Court.” To read an article on the late Judge Phillip Smith, select the link below:

Part One – The Start Time Of The Murder

Aaron Solomon is the only known, living witness who possibly knows the exact start time for the murder of Grant Solomon, or the exact location where the start of the murder began. It is still unknown if the “murder” began at the WPI baseball facility, or if the “murder” began somewhere else prior to Aaron and Grant’s supposed arrival to WPI at about 8:41 am. Unfortunately, Grant Solomon is now with His Heavenly Father and unable to speak to us directly about the “three minute” time period before his earthly father called 911 at 8:44 am, or any of the time between 7:37 am - 8:41 am when Grant drove his truck almost an hour to meet his father at WPI for “private” baseball instruction. Grant is unable to speak, but Aaron Solomon is still speaking, and he has invented a false “truck accident” narrative to conceal the true explanation for how his injured son was knocked out and unconscious--trapped up under a truck-- prior to Aaron Solomon’s “false report” to 911, and Gallatin Police. With the passage of twenty-seven months, and by the Providence of Almighty God, Aaron Solomon has told two radically different stories about his and Grant’s arrival to the WPI baseball facility, thereby destroying all of his credibility. This much is now clear, Grant Solomon was murdered, his baseball bat is still missing, there is not much blood in the “homicide” scene photographs, and the “truck accident” story is a lie.

EMT Joshua Gentry and Drew Hall stated Grant’s head was on the driver side of the truck. The bloody rocks and Grant’s goggles were also on the driver side of the truck.

Aaron Solomon and Sam Johnson stated Grant’s head was on the passenger side of the truck. Tyler Mark walked half way down by the ditch and never saw Grant under the truck.

Several months after the “murder” of Grant Solomon, Aaron Solomon dramatically changed his original story by telling at least one person that he and Grant arrived at the WPI baseball facility at about 8:41 am.

08:41:00 AM

Within forty-five minutes of the estimated start time of the “murder” of Grant Solomon, Gallatin Police Officer Kurtis McKelvey spoke with Aaron Solomon. Officer McKelvey wrote a police report which stated: “Mr. Solomon stated that he was meeting his son Grant at the facility and that he had arrived there first. Mr. Solomon stated that he was sitting in his vehicle when Grant pulled in next to him in his white pick-up truck.”

Aaron Solomon also provided a written statement to Gallatin Police Officer Kurtis McKelvey: “My son and I pulled into WPI separately...”

Several months after the “murder” of Grant Solomon, Aaron Solomon radically changed his original story told to Officer McKelvey. Aaron Solomon told at least one other person that he and Grant Solomon happened to catch up with each other on the Vietnam Veterans Parkway up in Goodlettsville, Tennessee. Aaron stated that he followed Grant to the WPI facility, and that Grant pulled into the parking lot in front of him at about 8:41 am.

Per Aaron Solomon’s own evolving story, Aaron Solomon did not arrive “first” at the WPI baseball facility. Instead, Aaron Solomon followed Grant Solomon for the estimated 27-minute drive from Goodlettsville to Gallatin, and he followed Grant into the parking lot at about 8:41 am. Again, Aaron Solomon did not arrive first to WPI, he was driving behind Grant Solomon when he arrived, if one can even believe Aaron Solomon’s 2nd arrival story? Also, Officer Kurtis McKelvey should be commended for his initial work in interviewing Aaron Solomon, and for obtaining a written statement from Aaron Solomon. Officer McKelvey’s police work helped uncover the “murder” of 18-year-old, Grant Solomon.

The Almost Perfect Murder

What Happens If You Lie To The Police?

Aaron Solomon demolished all of his credibility when he radically changed his and Grant's "arrival" story several months after the "murder" of Grant Solomon.

Aaron Solomon also demolished his credibility when he reassured a grieving mother that her only son's head was lying on the passenger side of the truck, while his feet were extended to the driver side of the truck. Aaron Solomon's story that Grant Solomon's head was lying face up on the passenger side of the truck is a shocking and breath-taking lie which has been totally discredited by EMT Joshua Gentry, WPI Witness Drew Hall, and Grant's own blood near the front tire on the driver side of the truck. Per EMT Joshua Gentry and WPI Witness Drew Hall, Grant Solomon's head was on the driver side of the truck, while his feet were extended to the passenger side of the truck, completely opposite the bold and brazen lie told by Aaron Solomon to Grant's grieving mother.

Since Aaron Solomon has told at least two radically different stories about his and Grant's "arrival" to the WPI baseball facility, and since Aaron Solomon is lying about the physical position of Grant Solomon's body up under the truck, how can anyone believe a single word Aaron Solomon says about receiving a work email during the "invented" truck accident, or any other fabricated story that Aaron Solomon makes up as he continues to cover-up the murder of his 18-year-old son, Grant Solomon, and the substantiated child sex abuse crimes that he committed against his pre-teen daughter, Gracie Solomon?

To keep it simple, Aaron Solomon lied about the “invented” truck accident. Grant’s truck never rolled over Grant dragging him down the steep hill, and anyone who believes the “invented accident” lie has been duped.

Aaron Solomon – Accused Murderer

A “whopper” of a baseball and invented truck accident story.

Several months after the “murder” of Grant Solomon, Aaron Solomon told at least one person that it looked like Grant Solomon was probably going to open the back door to remove his baseball gear, and on another occasion he told a grieving mother that Grant did open the back door to remove his baseball gear.

Aaron Solomon said he was distracted by a possible work email on his cell phone which caused him to look down for approximately 10-15 seconds. Aaron Solomon stated that the truck rolled backwards and crashed in the ditch during the same 10-15 seconds when he was looking down at the work email that hit his phone.

Since Aaron Solomon has told at least two radically different stories about his and Grant’s “arrival,” and since Aaron Solomon has lied to a grieving mother about the position of Grant’s body under the truck, why would any sane person believe a word that comes out of Aaron Solomon’s mouth?

If the words don't add up,
it's usually because the truth wasn't included in

Aaron Solomon stated several times that he “immediately” called 911. Since Aaron Solomon is lying about his and Grant’s “arrival” to the WPI baseball facility, and since Aaron Solomon is lying about the physical position of Grant Solomon’s body up under the truck, how can any sane person believe anything Aaron Solomon says about the “invented” truck accident, or that Aaron Solomon “immediately” called 911. Based upon Aaron Solomon’s own statement about his arrival time about 8:41 am, and his own statement that the alleged truck accident took place in about 10-15 seconds while he was looking at a work email, the simple arithmetic indicates there is a potential “2 minute and 45 second” timeline gap between 8:41 and 8:44 am, when 911 was actually called. However, if Aaron and Grant arrived at the WPI facility prior to 8:41 am, or if the “murder” commenced before 8:41 am, the timeline gap would be even larger.

Three Minutes in Gallatin - 8:41:00 AM to 08:44:00 AM – July 20, 2020

Aaron Solomon is telling lies.

To keep it simple, Aaron Solomon told at least one person that two people pulled off Highway 109 after seeing Grant's truck rolling back into the ditch.

Aaron Solomon

Witness 1

The two unidentified witnesses allegedly pulled over to help, but when they supposedly saw Grant under the front end of the truck, they apparently were afraid and did not stay to help.

EMT Joshua Gentry, the first responder to go under the truck, stated that he was unable to see any portion of Grant's body until he got down and looked under the truck. EMT Joshua Gentry said that no portion of Grant's body was visible, or protruding from up under the truck.

WPI witness, Tyler Mark, also stated that he did not see Grant's body under the truck when he first went out of the WPI building after seeing Grant's truck in the ditch. Tyler Mark also did not identify the presence of two unidentified witnesses, or anyone else on the front of the property, when he looked outside and went half way down to the ditch. Tyler Mark did identify that a gray truck with a man pulled off Highway 109 after he went outside the WPI facility, but the man in the gray truck is not the same as the two unidentified people who allegedly saw the truck roll down the hill as told by Aaron Solomon.

Gallatin Police Officer Kurtis McKelvey wrote a police report on his verbal interview with Aaron Solomon within 45 minutes of the estimated start time of "murder." Officer McKelvey stated in the final paragraph of his report: "I was not able to locate any other witnesses to the crash."

Aaron Solomon did not include the significant "two witnesses" information in his written statement provided to Officer McKelvey within forty-five minutes of the estimated start time of the "murder."

Since Aaron Solomon has told at least two radically different stories about his and Grant's "arrival" to the WPI baseball facility, and since Aaron Solomon is lying about the physical position of Grant Solomon's body up under the truck, how can any sane person believe a word Aaron Solomon says about two unidentified witnesses who allegedly saw Grant's truck rolling down the steep hill?

Part Two – The 911 Call

Aaron Solomon stated numerous times that he immediately called 911 after Grant's truck rolled back over him and dragged him into the ditch. Aaron Solomon called 911 at 8:44 am, and the recorded emergency call lasted approximately 4 minutes.

911 EMERGENCY

Minutes Four – Seven - 08:44 AM – 08:48 AM – July 20, 2020

Aaron Solomon is telling lies.

To keep it simple, Aaron Solomon's four-minute phone call to 911 began at 8:44 am and is filled with lies to cover-up the murder of Aaron Solomon's son, Grant Solomon. Grant Solomon turned 18 a month earlier and desired to testify in court as an adult against his father for the now substantiated child sex abuse of Grant's younger sister, Gracie Solomon.

This unofficial transcript of the 911 call is mostly focused on the words of Aaron Solomon. The bolded words indicate another unidentified voice recorded during the 911 call. The unofficial transcript is only offered as a possible aid for anyone who listens to the 911 recording.

"I'm trying... It's...it's 1357 S. Water Street. It's off 109. Please hurry... Please hurry. 1357... To keep it simple, the 911 recording is “murder-in-progress” evidence against Aaron Solomon. About eight days after the “almost perfect murder” of Grant Solomon, Aaron Solomon told a grieving mother that he was physically “weak” and knew he needed to be “calm” before he made the 911 call. With hindsight and more information now discovered, Aaron Solomon actually confessed that he needed to be “calm” before he made the “false report” to 911 and Gallatin Police: “I immediately just get weak... and I knew before I call 911... and, I’m trying to be calm for them... and I really, I mean, people, somebody had just run out... and said, that we need to sit down... cause you, they could tell I was... that I needed to be strong.”

Aaron Solomon

“Trying to be calm”

Grant & Angie Solomon

WPI Murder Witness – Tyler Mark

Aaron Solomon confessed that he needed to be “calm” prior to making a false report to 911. Aaron Solomon also stated that “somebody had just run out” and said that “we need to sit down” because they could tell that Aaron Solomon needed to be “strong.”

WPI murder witness, Tyler Mark, stated that he went and looked out the front of the WPI building within an estimated two minutes of the alleged truck “accident.” In reality, Tyler Mark looked out the front of WPI to become a witness to the “murder-in-progress” of his new baseball pitching student, Grant Solomon.

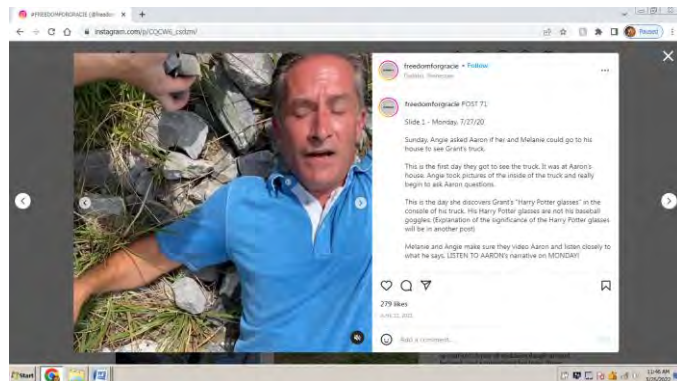

Tyler Mark stated that he saw Grant Solomon’s truck in the ditch and Aaron Solomon standing at the top of the ditch talking on his cell phone. Aaron Solomon made numerous statements that that he called 911 “immediately,” and he also stated that “somebody had just run out” and said that “we need to sit down,” just as he was beginning to make his 911 call. Based upon Tyler Mark’s full statement, Aaron Solomon and Grant Solomon were the only two people on the front of the WPI property when he walked outside.

Based upon Tyler Mark’s eyewitness account and the 911 recording, there is no evidence that anyone “ran out” of the WPI building and told Aaron Solomon to sit down, or to be strong, as he tried to be “calm” while he lied to the 911 dispatch operator.

Tyler Mark stated that he went outside and went half way down the ditch but he did not see anyone under the truck. Tyler Mark also stated that he and WPI murder witness, Drew Hall, both had the same opinion that they could not understand how Grant Solomon could have been struck and dragged down the hill by the truck.

To watch Aaron Solomon describe his need to be “calm” prior to making a “false report” to 911, select the link below: <https://www.instagram.com/p/CQHbDh0lrUU/>

Aaron Solomon confessed his need to be “calm” and “strong” prior to making his “false report” to the 911 dispatch operator. He also appeared to be “calm” and “strong” eight days later when he stretched out on the very same rocks where his son was bleeding and murdered eight days earlier.

Aaron Solomon demonstrated for a grieving mother the position of her cherished son’s body as he lay knocked out unconscious, not crying, screaming, or talking, in the final moments of his life, as he aspirated on his own blood, and ultimately suffered cardiac arrest.

Per Aaron Solomon’s own statements, Aaron Solomon did not go down in the ditch to assess the physical injuries to his son, and he really had no first-hand way of knowing if Grant Solomon had any broken bones, or was bleeding to death, or was knocked out, or if Grant was already deceased, or exactly how Grant was positioned from head-to-toe, while he was concealed from view up under the truck’s front axle, unless Aaron Solomon lied and went down in the ditch.

Per Tyler Mark’s statement, Aaron Solomon did not go down in the ditch but stood up at the top of the ditch talking on his cell phone and waiting for the ambulance.

Per EMT Joshua Gentry’s statement, he was not able to see any portion of Grant’s body until he got down and looked under the truck. He also said that no portion of Grant’s body was visible or protruding from under the truck.

Per an Aaron Solomon video statement, Aaron Solomon told a grieving mother that he did not touch Grant or the truck after she asked him: “So you never made it down there... and you didn’t open the front door.” Aaron Solomon responded: “No... no, no, no... nobody opened... nobody, nobody touched him, or the truck.”

For someone who never went down in the ditch, it seems difficult to believe that Aaron Solomon possessed so much knowledge and detail about the position of Grant’s head, body, and feet, concealed from view up under the truck. To watch two Aaron Solomon video statements, select these two links:

Aaron Solomon's opening words on the 911 false report "murder cover-up" recording are: "I'm trying." Aaron Solomon repeated the phrase about 35 seconds later when he said "I'm trying" again to an unidentified person at the WPI "homicide" scene. Per WPI murder witness, Tyler Mark, Aaron Solomon was standing at the top of the ditch talking on his cell phone when he looked out the front of the WPI building. Tyler Mark stated that he, Aaron Solomon, Grant Solomon, and WPI coaching instructor Drew Hall, were the only people on the WPI property. Based upon Tyler Mark's eyewitness account plus the 911 recording, at least three actions are possible: 1) Aaron Solomon was pretending to be on the phone calling 911 until a car passed by on Highway 109, or someone came out of the WPI building and he was forced to call 911; 2) Aaron Solomon was talking to someone else prior to calling 911; 3) Aaron Solomon was calling 911 at the same moment that Tyler Mark walked outside and Aaron Solomon was speaking to Tyler Mark saying "I'm trying" as though Tyler Mark had asked him a question. (Note: #3 means that Tyler Mark looked out the front of the WPI building and walked outside "immediately" after the alleged truck crash since Aaron Solomon repeatedly stated he "immediately" called 911. Tyler Mark stated he thought he went outside within two minutes of the alleged truck crash).

Within the first 45 seconds of the 911 call, Aaron Solomon seemed to be speaking to someone else (possibly Tyler Mark) as the 911 dispatch operator was talking: “He’s trapped under the truck, and I, I, yeah he, somehow it drug him underneath it... Yes, my son is under it... I’m trying... No, I’m trying to call 911.”

Aaron Solomon – Accused Murderer

Tire tracks easily seen on short grass.

Aaron Solomon made a “false report” to the 911 dispatch operator during a real-time “murder-in-progress” at WPI baseball facility at 1357 S. Water Street in Gallatin, Tennessee. Aaron Solomon falsely stated to the 911 dispatch operator that Grant’s truck backed over him and dragged him into the ditch. There is no physical evidence that supports the “false report” Aaron Solomon made to the 911 dispatch officer, and also to Gallatin police officers. There was no blood on the pavement, or tire tracks through the tall grass above the ditch, or physical damage done to Grant’s body that substantiated Aaron Solomon’s elaborate false narrative which has morphed and changed during the past two years and three months. However, there is truck forensic evidence and tire track “mud” evidence that reveals the truck was intentionally driven over a “knocked out” 18-year-old murder victim while he lay helpless, bleeding, and dying in the rocky ditch. There is also direct eyewitness and supporting evidence that prove Grant’s head was lying on the driver side of the truck, not the passenger side of the truck, as Aaron Solomon and Sam Johnson reassured a grieving mother only eight days after the “almost perfect murder” of her beloved son, Grant Solomon. Since Aaron Solomon has told at least two radically different stories about his and Grant’s “arrival,” and since Aaron Solomon has lied to a grieving mother about the position of Grant’s body under the truck, why would anyone trust anything Aaron Solomon says about how Grant’s truck rolled backwards over Grant, and dragged him into the rocky ditch?

No tire tracks through the tall grass.

Aaron Solomon repeatedly lied that Grant's truck "somehow" backed over Grant and dragged him down the parking lot pavement into the rocky ditch. However, there is one small problem with Aaron Solomon's repeated lie: there are no tire tracks in the tall grass.

Tyler Mark stated that he walked outside, went half way down the ditch, but he did not see Grant Solomon trapped up under the truck. First responder, EMT Joshua Gentry, stated that he could not see any portion of Grant's body visible or protruding from under the truck, and he could only see Grant by looking up under the truck. About eight days after the "murder" of Grant Solomon, Aaron Solomon told a grieving mother that he could see Grant's red shirt and face from the top of the ditch.

Grant Solomon Aaron Solomon

After Tyler Mark looked out the front to see Grant Solomon's truck in the ditch and Aaron Solomon standing at the top of the ditch, Tyler Mark stated he went outside and went half way down the ditch. At this time, it is unknown if Tyler Mark encouraged Aaron Solomon to be strong, or to sit down, or to lay down, since such an exchange with anyone was not recorded on the 911 call, even as the sirens arrived at the scene. It also seems noteworthy that Tyler Mark walked half way down the ditch and did not see Grant up under the truck. Aaron Solomon was able to easily reassure Grant's grieving mother that he had seen Grant's red shirt and face from the top of the ditch on the passenger side of the truck. Aaron Solomon's statement stands in direct opposition against first responder, EMT Joshua Gentry, who stated that he could not see any portion of Grant's body until he got down and looked up under the truck, and that no portion of Grant's body was visible or protruding from up under the truck. Tyler Mark also stated that he did not see Grant until the emergency responders extricated Grant from the driver side of the truck. EMT Joshua Gentry and WPI murder witness, Drew Hall, both stated that Grant Solomon's head was on the driver side of truck, completely opposite the false narrative told by Aaron Solomon and Sam Johnson to Grant's grieving mother.

EMT Joshua Gentry and Drew Hall stated that Grant's head was on the front driver side of the truck.

Aaron Solomon and Sam Johnson stated that Grant's head was on the front passenger side of the truck.

Tyler Mark did not see Grant Solomon trapped under the truck when he went half way down the ditch. Per Tyler Mark's statement, he first realized that Grant Solomon was trapped under the truck when Aaron Solomon told him: "My son is under the truck." This possibly occurred around the 45-second time mark of the 911 call when Aaron Solomon told an unknown person (possibly Tyler Mark): "My son is under it."

Tyler Mark -
WPI Murder Witness

Grant Solomon

Tyler Mark did not see Grant Solomon when he half way down the ditch. Aaron Solomon stated that he could see Grant's red shirt and face from the top of the ditch.

WPI murder witness, Tyler Mark, went half way down in the ditch but still did not see Grant Solomon under the truck. Tyler Mark stated he did get a glimpse of Grant when the emergency responders extricated Grant from under the driver side of the truck, but he was not close enough to see any of the injuries sustained by Grant, and he stated he did not know how badly Grant Solomon was injured.

In stark contrast, Aaron Solomon claimed that he saw Grant's red shirt and face from the top of the hill, even though Aaron Solomon stayed on top of the hill and did not go down in the ditch. Aaron Solomon also told a grieving mother specific details about the position of Grant's body up under the driver side of truck, even though Aaron Solomon clearly stated that he never went down in the ditch, nor did he touch Grant's body, or Grant's truck.

To keep it simple, Aaron Solomon could not humanly possess any knowledge of Grant's body position up under the truck because Aaron Solomon never had a chance to visually see Grant's physical position after the "murder" occurred, unless Aaron Solomon lied and was down in the ditch during the "murder" prior to the 911 call.

Aaron Solomon was unable to see Grant's extrication from under the driver side of the truck because Aaron Solomon was taken into the WPI facility before Grant was extricated and rushed by ambulance to Sumner Regional Medical Center. Aaron Solomon made this fact clear when he told a grieving mother that the police took him away from his son because they did not wish for Aaron Solomon "to see anything and make it worse." Therefore, as Aaron Solomon was being interviewed by police, Grant Solomon was being extricated and rushed to the hospital by unsung EMS heroes who were valiantly fighting against a "murder-in-progress" trying to save the life of 18-year-old, Grant Solomon.

With hindsight, based upon the timeline and description of events, Aaron Solomon never had the opportunity to physically see Grant's body position up under the truck after the 911 call because the ambulance carried Grant away at 9:03 am while Aaron Solomon was being interviewed by Gallatin Police; D & M Towing arrived on the scene about 9:10 am; Grant Solomon was pronounced dead at 9:30 am; and Gallatin police officer Christian Booth departed the cleared "homicide" scene at 9:41 am. Everything returned to normal in the WPI ditch, except for Grant's cell phone, baseball cap, and goggles that were still left within the WPI "homicide" scene, along with at least one other item.

A short time after Tyler Mark went half way down the ditch, Tyler Mark stated that an unknown man pulled up in a gray pickup truck and parked his truck at an awkward angle near the ditch.

WPI Murder Witness – Tyler Mark

Unknown Man in Gray Truck – Witnessed A “Murder-In-Progress”

The unknown man in the gray truck pulled right in to a “murder-in-progress” homicide scene possibly before Aaron Solomon told the 911 dispatch operator: “I got three guys here.”

The “I got three guys here” statement was made around the 1 minute and 20 second time mark on the 911 recording.

Tyler Mark and the unknown man with the gray truck could possibly be two of the “three guys” referenced during the 911 call, but the “third guy” at the “homicide” scene has not yet been identified.

The unknown man in the gray truck, plus the two unidentified murder witnesses who allegedly saw Grant’s truck roll down the hill prior to the 911 call, conveys that at least three unidentified witnesses allegedly pulled off Highway 109 during the real-time “murder” of Grant Solomon, who was knocked out unconscious and dying up under the truck.

Gallatin Police Officer Kurtis McKelvey interviewed Aaron Solomon within forty-five minutes of the estimated start time of the “murder,” but Officer McKelvey did not mention any additional or potential witnesses who were interviewed in his police report.

It is unknown if Gallatin Police ever interviewed Tyler Mark, Drew Hall, the man in the gray truck, the two murder witnesses who allegedly pulled off Highway 109, the older man working on a truck at 8:30 am near the “homicide” scene, or any other neighbors, or anyone else who was present at the WPI property, while Grant Solomon was severely injured, knocked out, aspirating, and dying, during a real-time “murder-in-progress.”

WPI Homicide scene – Gallatin , TN – July 2020

Grant’s head was behind the front tire on the driver side of the truck.

At around the 1:06 time mark of the 911 call, the 911 dispatch operator asked Aaron Solomon if Grant Solomon was awake. Aaron Solomon seemed to be speaking to someone else as he responded to the 911 dispatch operator: “I don’t think so... I don’t think so... He’s not, he’s not, uh, he’s not alert, right?... No, he’s out.”

Aaron Solomon – Accused Murderer

Grant Solomon – Murder Victim

Knocked out unconscious

Based upon the 911 recording, it is clear that an unidentified person told Aaron Solomon that Grant was knocked out and not alert about 1 minute and 14 seconds into the 911 call. However, it is reasonable to conclude that Aaron Solomon already knew that Grant was “knocked out” and “unconscious” prior to the 911 call based upon a statement he made to at least one person several months after the “almost perfect murder” of Grant Solomon. Aaron Solomon told at least one person that Grant was not crying, screaming, or talking, which reveals that Grant Solomon never made a sound during the time that he and Aaron Solomon were out in front of the WPI baseball facility prior to the start of the 911 call, around the same time that Tyler Mark walked out of the WPI building after he saw Grant’s truck in the ditch. The time period for this period of silence from Grant Solomon would include the possible two-minute and 45 second gap before the 911 call began, and the 4-minutes during the 911 call, or almost seven minutes of total silent time. The estimated six minutes and forty-seconds of silent time could possibly even be longer, if Aaron Solomon and Grant Solomon arrived at the WPI facility prior to 8:41 am.

Silence.

Aaron Solomon appeared to be speaking again to an unidentified person at the 1:51 time mark of the 911 call: “That’s my son... it, somehow it backed up... yeah, yeah... I’m on, I’m on with 911 right now.... Oh my God.... Oh my God... Oh my God... No, no, he was just getting out of it.... we were on an incline and I guess he didn’t have it in park or something.. or it wasn’t engaged...”

Aaron Solomon cleverly blamed his own son, Grant, for the “invented” truck accident staged to conceal the “murder” of Grant Solomon. Aaron Solomon shrewdly blamed his own son while he was making a “false report” and lying to the 911 dispatch operator as his son was dying in the rocky ditch.

In one post-murder video statement, Aaron Solomon explained to a grieving mother how Grant was standing at the back side door of the truck prior to the “invented” truck accident.

Aaron Solomon explained how Grant went in and out of the back side door, and clearly confirmed the truck was not yet rolling.

Unofficial Transcript:

Aaron Solomon: ““I’m going to get out, and we’re going to go in... yeah... had his hat on... had his glasses on... cause I... he had his glasses... yes... yes...”

Angie Solomon: “And that was the last you saw him was right there.”

Aaron Solomon: “Yes.”

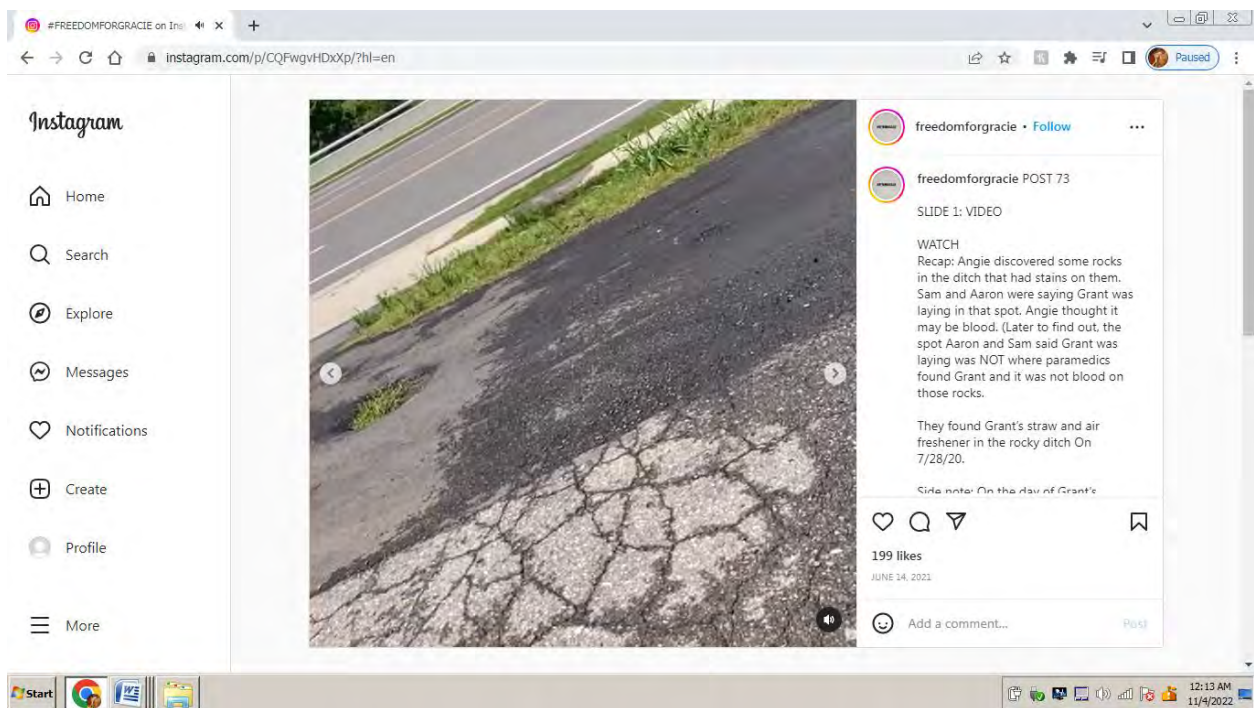

Angie Solomon: “And the truck wasn’t rolling at that point... because you would have noticed it?”

In 2022, a vehicle was taken to WPI to be tested on the same steep hill. Based upon the vehicle test, the driver was unable to successfully exit the vehicle in “neutral” because the vehicle immediately began rolling backward down the steep hill. To put it simply, it is virtually impossible that Grant could have stepped out of the truck and closed the front door, and then moved a few steps to open and shut the back door, if the truck was in “neutral.” Aaron Solomon was in possession of Grant’s truck after the “murder,” but he continued to drive the truck and he never filed a “defect or malfunction” lawsuit against Toyota for the death of his only son. Aaron Solomon did file a “defamation” lawsuit against a grieving mother and more than twenty individuals, including at least one of Grant’s classmates and friends, to silence friends and supporters of Gracie and Grant Solomon from speaking out against Aaron Solomon’s substantiated child sex abuse, and the “murder” of 18-year-old, Grant Solomon.

Aaron Solomon repeatedly stated that Grant's truck rolled back over him dragging him into the rocky ditch. However, Aaron Solomon agreed with a grieving mother that there was no blood on the parking lot pavement above the ditch. Angie Solomon stated that she did not see any blood on the parking lot pavement and that Grant's head injury may have occurred where the bloody rocks were located. Aaron Solomon responded as they walked across the parking lot pavement: "His head could have hit twice... I mean, I would have noticed blood that day. As shaken as I was, I would have noticed blood." Of course, there was no blood on the parking lot pavement because Grant Solomon wasn't run over by a truck at the top of the hill, and Aaron Solomon lied about the position of Grant's head on the passenger side of the truck, and Aaron Solomon told two radically different stories about his and Grant Solomon's arrival time at WPI, for the sole purpose to cover-up the murder of his 18-year-old son, Grant Solomon, and the substantiated child sex abuse of Grant's younger sister, Gracie Solomon.

Aaron Solomon was very shrewd with his choice of words with the 911 dispatch operator, Gallatin Police, a grieving mother, and many other people who listened to his evolving narrative on how Grant was allegedly killed by his own truck. Aaron Solomon was subtle to blame his own son, Grant Solomon, for the “invented” truck accident during the “murder-in-progress” 911 call as he lied to the 911 dispatch operator: “My son’s truck backed over him and it’s rolled over him and drug him into the ditch and it is on top of him... somehow it drug him down, I think... I don’t know whether it wasn’t in park, or what, or if it didn’t engage the brake, or it drug him underneath somehow.”

Victim-Blaming

Truck Forensic Exam

Per the Freedom 4 Gracie web site, Aaron Solomon picked up Grant’s truck 48 hrs after the “murder” of 18-year-old, Grant Solomon. Aaron Solomon possessed and drove the truck for months subsequent to the “murder” without ever filing a “defect or malfunction” lawsuit against the Toyota manufacturer. Aaron Solomon did file a “defamation” lawsuit against a grieving mother and more than twenty individuals, including at least one of Grant’s classmates and friends, to silence friends and supporters of Gracie and Grant Solomon from speaking out against Aaron Solomon’s substantiated child sex abuse, and the “murder” of 18-year-old, Grant Solomon.

Per the Freedom 4 Gracie web site, a grieving mother begged Aaron Solomon for the truck, but Aaron Solomon would not give Grant’s mother the truck. Grant’s mother remains confused on why Grant’s truck was not impounded by Gallatin Police after the alleged “accident” resulting in a death, but the truck was released to Aaron Solomon 48 hours after the “almost perfect murder.”

Per the Freedom 4 Gracie web site, Gallatin Police informed a grieving mother that they could not make Aaron Solomon give Grant’s mother the truck and there was nothing they could do.

Per the Freedom4Gracie web site, the truck evidence which served to conceal 18-year-old “murder” victim, Grant Solomon, was totaled and sold at auction, with possible insurance fraud involved in the “murder cover-up” case.

Per the Freedom 4 Gracie web site, a grieving mother was able to finally obtain the truck to have a Forensic truck exam conducted. The truck exam revealed the truck drove forward instead of rolling backwards down the hill.

Per the Freedom 4 Gracie web site, the Forensic Exam reached a conclusion that the accident could not have occurred as Aaron Solomon described.

About a minute and a half after an unidentified person told Aaron Solomon that his son was not alert and was knocked out, an unidentified person at the “homicide” scene told Aaron Solomon around the 2:50 time mark of the 911 emergency call, that his son was possibly conscious and alive: “Somebody is telling me he is coming too, maybe... maybe...” However, this was really terrible news for Aaron Solomon because he did not want Grant to survive the “murder” to tell how he really suffered a devastating blow to the back of his head. Aaron Solomon only pretended to be hopeful, but he was really panicked that his son was still fighting and alive.

Some first aid, a prayer holding his hand, a few extra minutes, and maybe Grant would have flown on Vanderbilt Life Flight and lived to tell what really happened?

About 26 seconds after Aaron Solomon was informed that Grant was still alive, an unidentified male voice told Aaron Solomon around the 3:16 time mark of the 911 call: “He is aspirating.” Around the same time, Aaron Solomon appeared to be talking to an unidentified person while he was also talking to the 911 dispatch operator: “Yeah, somebody talked to him... yeah, he said there is blood... is he facing up or down... he is facing up and they said he may aspirate, we need to hurry... oh my God... yeah, yeah, there is blood coming out...” Around the 3:47 time mark, Aaron Solomon told the 911 dispatch operator again: “They said he is facing up. But he is bleeding from his mouth.”

Signs and Symptoms of Aspiration

- Secretions from nose or watery eyes
- Reddening of the face
- Change in breathing rate
- Change in lung sounds
- Audible breathing
- Attempts to clear his/her throat
- Coughing
- Gagging
- Gurgly or “wet” sounding voice

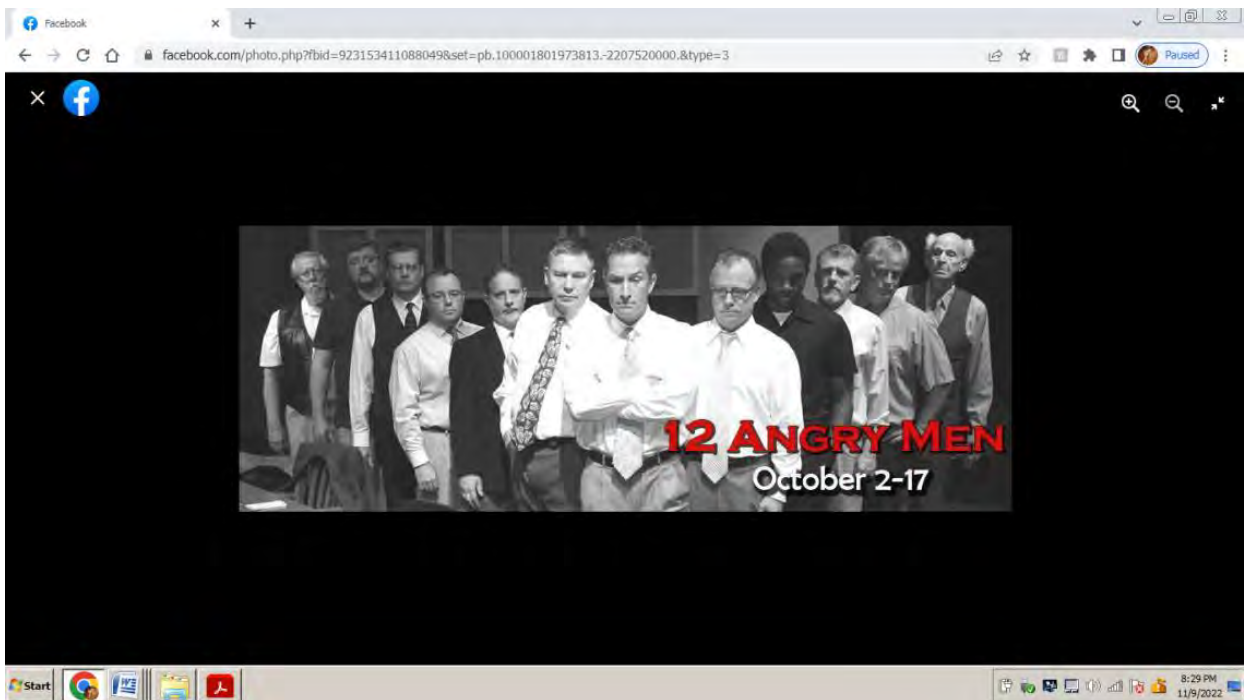

Recovery position

Grant was fighting to stay alive in the July heat while slowly aspirating and murdered up under the truck.

At the 3:19 time mark of the 911 call, Aaron Solomon “acted” like he did not know that Grant was “face-up” when he asked an unidentified bystander if Grant was in the ditch, “face-up,” or “face-down.” Aaron Solomon always knew that Grant was positioned “face-up,” before the 911 call, during the 911 call, and after the 911 call. Aaron Solomon personally saw Grant lying “face-up” prior to the truck pulling forward to stage a tragic “truck accident” to cover-up his own son’s murder. Aaron Solomon was “acting” in his high position above the ditch, just as he was “acting” on stage in Cannon County when he performed in 12 Angry Men in October 2015, or just as he was “acting” as a professional news performer for WSMV TV for 15 years.

Aaron Solomon was “acting” on the hill when an unidentified bystander told him Grant was “aspirating” under the truck. After Aaron Solomon was informed Grant was aspirating, Aaron Solomon was emotionally detached and did not rush to hold his son’s hand, or to be at his side to tell him he loved him, or to hold his hand to provide him comfort and encouragement. Aaron Solomon spoke his final words to Grant Solomon from the top of the ditch prior to his son’s cardiac arrest. Grant Solomon had been alone up under the truck for maybe six minutes, or possibly longer, and most likely was unable to hear the final words of his dad from the top of the ditch at the 3 minute and 53 seconds time mark: “Grant, turn your face to the side if you can, barely... but be careful.”

Per the Freedom4Gracie web site, Aaron Solomon is a substantiated perpetrator.

Per the Freedom4Gracie web site, Grant Solomon wanted to testify against his father after he turned 18.

“My father is a monster... He’s a rapist. He’s a monster. He’s a liar. And he’s a killer.” Gracie Solomon – A Cry For Help – May 12, 2021.

Near the end of the four-minute 911 call, and just prior to the sirens arriving, Aaron Solomon told the 911 dispatch operator: “We can’t move him... we can’t, can’t move him.” With hindsight, Aaron Solomon had taken his “top of the hill” position as an accident victim’s father which communicated a subtle message that no one should attempt to get too near the truck, or attempt to push the truck away from Grant’s wounded body. Aaron Solomon later told a grieving mother: “I needed to be strong... and, I knew I needed... I knew... looking at this... that humans could not... three or four people... or five people... couldn’t at the most... I knew in my mind, even if, like, it would take maybe twenty men to pick up the front of the truck, and even then, the weight of it could roll, so I knew we needed equipment quickly.”

Aaron Solomon made an immediate assessment that the truck couldn’t be moved, or rolled away from Grant Solomon, even though he supposedly did not go down in the ditch to see the physical position of Grant under the truck. Also, none of the good Samaritan bystanders attempted to push or roll the truck away from Grant Solomon, even though there were apparently as many as five good Samaritan bystanders who could have possibly given it a try (if asked), or possibly stopped others passing by to stop and help, once they were certain the truck would not further injure Grant if an attempt was made.

An emergency responder who crawled up under the truck to try to pull Grant out noted that the weight of the truck was not resting upon Grant when he assessed Grant’s body and physical condition.

After the “murder” of Grant Solomon, Aaron Solomon speculated to at least one person that people were in shock, or afraid to help Grant because of the weight and angle of the truck, and the possibility that Grant had a spinal injury.

To put it simply, Aaron Solomon set the “top of the hill” distant example for everyone else entering the “homicide” scene during a real-time “murder-in-progress.” The 911 call does not record Aaron Solomon ever directly asking any of the people present at the “homicide” scene to try to roll the truck back, or to take his place on the phone so he could rush down to be with his dying son, or to simply ask anyone to hold Grant’s hand, or to say a prayer, or to comfort Grant in any way.

The murder-in-progress “homicide” scene had many witnesses who would have taken some action to help, if Aaron Solomon had requested any help, prior to the sirens arriving at the end of the 911 recorded call. Gallatin Police determined that Aaron Solomon was the only “truck accident” witness, but everyone who was anywhere near the “homicide” scene was involved as a “murder-in-progress” witness who possibly saw something important, or may know some very important detail that seems to be insignificant. This “murder-in-progress” potential witness list would include everyone at the WPI “homicide” scene, or everyone passing by the WPI “homicide” scene on Highway 109, or everyone who watched the WPI “homicide” scene from a distance, such as the man on the hill in the photograph below. All that being said, the most important witness to the murder of Grant Solomon is the only known witness to the murder, former WSMV TV news anchor and sports reporter, Aaron Solomon.

5 WPI Witnesses

EMT, Police and Passing Traffic Were “Murder-in-Progress” Witnesses

Per Aaron Solomon, at least one WPI “murder-in-progress” witness told Aaron Solomon that he did not need to come down to the ditch because of concern that Aaron Solomon might fall down. Aaron Solomon told a grieving mother that he was “laying down” at the top of the ditch because he couldn’t go down in the ditch. All of this seems possible to have occurred, but the communication is not recorded during the 911 call and only those witnesses at the WPI “homicide” scene can confirm any of the post-murder statements made by Aaron Solomon. For example, Aaron Solomon told Grant’s grieving mother: “...and, then somebody’s like, man you don’t need... to come down there cause I may fall and I can’t... and I’m like right here... like laying down... I’m laying down. “

Tyler Mark – WPI Murder Witness

Drew Hall – WPI Murder Witness

Aaron Solomon reassured a grieving mother that no one touched the truck, or Grant Solomon, after the truck allegedly rolled backwards and over Grant Solomon dragging him down the steep hill and through a rocky ditch. Aaron Solomon and Tyler Mark both stated that Aaron Solomon did not go down in the ditch or physically attend to Grant Solomon in any way. To date, it is not known or recorded on the 911 call exactly who expressed concern that Aaron Solomon might fall down if he attempted to go in the ditch to assess the injury to his son, or to comfort his son. It is also unknown if Aaron Solomon was “lying down” at the top of the ditch during or after the 911 call as emergency response crews were arriving at the scene. Tyler Mark, Drew Hall, Gallatin Police and emergency response crews, and other witnesses are the only people who could possibly confirm that Aaron Solomon was “lying down” at the top of the ditch, but this “lying down” detail is currently unsubstantiated by previous individual statements and police-emergency responder reports.

As the sirens arrived at the end of the 911 call, emergency crews immediately began to work on extricating Grant Solomon from under the truck. Gallatin Police officers immediately approached Aaron Solomon to ask him questions about an alleged truck “accident” as described to the 911 dispatch operator. Gallatin Police officers apparently did not realize a “murder” was still in progress as Grant Solomon was being extricated and rushed by ambulance to Sumner Regional Medical Center. Initially, Aaron Solomon was “mad” and “upset” with the Gallatin police officers for supposedly taking him away from his son during the final moments of the “murder-in-progress.” However, Aaron Solomon was released after a written statement and short interview were completed, and he stated he “chased the ambulance” to the hospital.

Prior to Aaron Solomon being released from the “homicide” scene by Gallatin Police, Angie Solomon was on a 6-minute phone call with Aaron Solomon while Aaron was with the Gallatin Police. Angie Solomon stated that she heard Aaron when he was mad and upset, and she also stated that a Gallatin Police officer told Aaron, “Sir, you may not be going anywhere... Sir, you may be coming with us.” Angie Solomon said that the 6-minute phone call sounded chaotic and there was yelling: “That’s when I heard it... in there... someone in there yelling at you.”

During a recorded conversation at the WPI facility about eight days after the “murder” of Grant Solomon, Aaron Solomon’s loyal friend, Sam Johnson, seemed triggered by Angie’s comment that she heard “someone in there yelling” at Aaron Solomon during the police interview. Sam Johnson quickly interrupted Aaron Solomon as he began to talk about his interview with Gallatin Police: “Are you ok with being recorded?”

Aaron Solomon responded: “Yeah, yeah, yeah... And uhm, so, so, they pull me in the room to talk to me... at the time I was mad, but then after the fact I think it was for, so they wouldn’t, so I wouldn’t see anything and make it worse... Yes... Yes... As soon as, as soon as, as soon as they got him in the ambulance, then they let me come out and drive, basically, chase the ambulance to the hospital.”

Aaron Solomon acknowledged that Angie Solomon heard some of the upset, chaotic conversation with Gallatin Police when he told her about his experience eight days after the murder of Grant Solomon: “... and immediately a police officer says, ‘Mr. Solomon, we need you to come with us in here.’ And at that moment, I was mad like... don’t take me away from my son... don’t take me away... well actually, before, before that, you might have heard some of that because I am calling you next, saying there has been a horrific accident... I’m in a panic... just get here, we’re in Gallatin... Then the officer pulls me in there...”

As Aaron Solomon was released by Gallatin Police to “chase the ambulance” to Sumner Regional Medical Center, emergency responders were trying to regain a young murder victim’s pulse so Vanderbilt Life flight could be utilized to save Grant Solomon’s life. Vanderbilt Life Flight did arrive in Gallatin, but Grant Solomon was pronounced dead at the hospital and did not make it to the Vanderbilt Life Flight helicopter.

After murder victim, Grant Solomon, was pronounced dead at 9:30 am, Aaron Solomon purportedly called Rudy Kalis, his former boss at WSMV TV, to obtain Vince Gill’s phone number. Aaron Solomon allegedly wanted to speak to his other Ensworth friend, Tim McGraw, but Tim McGraw was reportedly out of town. Per at least one source at the hospital, Aaron Solomon contacted Vince Gill to request for him to sing at Grant Solomon’s celebration of life service. On July 25, 2020, Vince Gill dedicated a song to substantiated child sex abuse victim, Gracie Solomon, over the casket of murder victim, Grant Solomon, on behalf of his long-time friend, Aaron Solomon.

After Grant Solomon was pronounced dead at 9:30 am, Dr. Angie Huffines Solomon (Pharmacist), was able to spend some time visually examining the outward appearance of her son’s physical condition. Aaron Solomon told Dr. Solomon as she was driving to the hospital that the truck had rolled over and landed on the pelvis area of Grant Solomon. This untrue injury report gave Dr. Solomon a false sense of hope that Grant might possibly survive the alleged “truck accident” since Grant didn’t seem to have a serious head injury. Upon reaching the hospital and examining her son’s body, Dr. Solomon was confused by Aaron Solomon’s “false story” which did not match up with Grant’s physical condition that she had seen with her own eyes at the hospital. As a result, Dr. Solomon continued to press Aaron Solomon for more precise details about the alleged truck “accident” since none of Aaron’s “false narrative” made any sense to Dr. Solomon as a highly trained medical professional in the field of pharmacy. During one very intense post-murder conversation, Aaron Solomon reportedly became emotionally “upset” and “visceral” as she continued to press him for more specific details about the alleged truck “accident.”

Celebration of Life Service – Aaron Solomon

Aaron Solomon purportedly had an emotional-spiritual breakdown, dropped to his knees, confessed that he was “guilty, guilty, guilty,” confessed that he was a “cursed man,” confessed that he would live in hell every day for the rest of his life, and confessed that he would have “survivor’s guilt” for the rest of his life.

On July 25, 2020, Aaron Solomon expressed his wish to “trade places” with Grant Solomon during his personal remarks at the “celebration of life” service before a large, grieving audience at Grace Chapel Church: “Grant and Gracie, you have both made me the proudest dad in the world since the day you were born... Grant, I have wished since 8:45 Monday morning that I could trade places with you... so that Gracie would have her brother, and that Gracie and Angie and the rest of the people who love you, wouldn’t hurt so deeply... and that you could live on and do great things here on this earth... but you have already done more on this earth than me and many other people that I know will ever do in a lifetime.” To date (Nov 9, 2022), Aaron Solomon has not sought forgiveness or confessed more than “survivor’s guilt” with Dr. Angie Solomon, and only Almighty God knows the true state and eternal destination of Aaron Solomon’s human soul.

On July 21, 2020, the day after the “murder” of Grant Solomon, a grieving mother informed Aaron Solomon at a funeral home meeting that Grant’s cell phone was driving around in Hendersonville while they were making funeral arrangements for Grant. Per Life 360, the cell phone moved from the WPI ditch to another location after the police cleared the scene and the WPI ditch returned to normal.

Per a source at the funeral home, Aaron Solomon’s eyes got wide open when a grieving mother told Aaron Solomon that Grant’s girlfriend and her mother were concerned that Grant’s cell phone had been stolen and they were calling the Sheriff’s department. Aaron reportedly said, “No, no, no... no one needs to call the Sheriff’s Department. I will call WPI and they will be able to find them.” Aaron Solomon made the phone call within five minutes after stepping away from Angie Solomon. When Aaron Solomon finished the brief call, he reportedly said: “They have the phone, the hat, and the goggles. You’re not going to believe this... the father-in-law found them in the ditch. He took them to his house, and he’s such a great man that he kept Grant’s phone charged. I’m going to go out there and pick them up.” Aaron Solomon reportedly went later in the day by himself to retrieve Grant’s belongings who were allegedly found by the WPI father-in-law.

WPI murder witness, Drew Hall, stated that he remembered that someone found Grant’s glasses, baseball cap, and goggles, but he did not know who had found the items. (Note: Months later when a review of the Life 360 record was performed, Grant’s phone was charged at 100% at 9:30 am when he was pronounced dead, and the phone was charged at 46% at 12:07 pm on the following day. Again, Aaron Solomon told Grant’s mother that the nice man who found the phone had charged Grant’s phone after he found it.)

The WPI father-in-law is also an important witness in the Grant Solomon murder cover-up crime. Apparently, the WPI father-in-law stopped by the WPI baseball facility after the alleged “truck accident” and discovered Grant’s goggles, cell phone, and baseball cap still lying in the “homicide” scene. In reviewing numerous photographs of the “homicide” scene, Grant’s goggles were lying on the driver side of the truck near the sidewalk in front of the WPI property. As for Grant’s cell phone and baseball cap, the photographs do not reveal their location in the ditch. A close-up photograph possibly reveals the location of the baseball cap under the truck near where Grant’s head was behind the front driver side tire.

Fourteen-year-old Gracie has endured a lifetime of sexual abuse at the hands of her father.

She is begging for protection from him.

A Cry For Help – May 12, 2021

Her older brother, Grant (who never failed her and intended to fight legally on her behalf once he turned 18), died suspiciously one month after his 18th birthday.

Aaron Solomon’s retaliatory defamation lawsuit against Angie Solomon and 28 other defendants was withdrawn from a Williamson County Court, and a new lawsuit was filed in a Middle Tennessee Federal Court. A sworn affidavit by Aaron Solomon’s long-time friend, Grace Chapel Pastor Steve Berger, was filed in support of Aaron Solomon, and was signed on June 14, 2021.

July 25, 2020 – A Celebration of Life Service For Grant Solomon on Day 5 of a murder-child sex abuse cover-up.

Pastor Berger swore under penalty of perjury: “I did meet with Grant Solomon on or about May 8, 2018, at 11:30 am. We met privately in my office, Our conversation consisted of a discussion of spiritual matters, namely how Grant could grow closer to Christ, At no time in this meeting (or otherwise) did Grant report to me any sexual abuse allegations of any kind involving his sister, his father, or any other person. At no time (or otherwise) did Grant express to me that he was afraid of his father or that his father had abused him or Gracie in any way whatsoever.” Pastor Steve Berger is a long-time friend and supporter of Gov. Bill Lee and Sen. Bill Hagerty. Pastor Steve Berger resigned from Grace Chapel about 13 months after the murder of Grant Solomon, and is now the leader of Ambassador Services International (ASI), ministering to members and staff members of the U.S. Senate, U.S. Congress, and others in Washington D.C. On June 14, 2021, about a month after Aaron Solomon filed a retaliatory defamation lawsuit against a grieving mother and other supporters of Gracie Solomon, Attorney W. Tyler Weiss sent a retaliatory “data preservation and demand for retraction” letter to Ms. Melanie Hicks and her son, Wynn D. Hicks, on behalf of Grace Christian Academy during an on-going child sex abuse – murder cover-up.

@Saint_Dymphna - Earlier today I was sent audio by an anonymous source that was secretly recorded by Grant Solomon 2 years before his death. Grant had requested a meeting with @GCALions leadership regarding the treatment of his little sister Gracie. While GCA denied any wrongdoing and even sent out legal threats to a number of people, this conversation makes it clear that everyone knew and everyone failed Grant and Gracie. More to come, stay tuned – 8:21 AM – Sep 13, 2021 – Twitter for iPhone

On June 16, 2021, two days after W. Tyler Weiss sent Ms. Melanie Hicks and Wynn D. Hicks a “data preservation and demand for retraction” letter, and a month after Aaron Solomon filed a retaliatory defamation lawsuit against Dr. Angie Solomon and more than twenty friends and supporters of Gracie and Grant Solomon, Attorney Larry Crain sent a retaliatory “cease and desist” letter during an on-going “child sex abuse – murder cover-up” to blogger Shannon Ashley who wrote a blog article about Gracie Solomon’s child sex abuse and murder allegations against her father, Aaron Solomon.

Attorney Larry Crain sent Shannon Ashley the retaliatory “cease and desist” letter on behalf of Grace Chapel Church, which was led by Founding Pastor Steve Berger, a long-time friend of Aaron Solomon. Attorney Larry Crain did not send a retaliatory “cease and desist” letter to 14-year old Gracie Solomon, the minor who actually made numerous allegations against Aaron Solomon, Pastor Steve Berger, Grace Chapel Church, and Grace Christian Academy. Grace Chapel Pastor Rob Rogers publicly called Gracie’s allegations “blatantly and demonstrably false,” and the leadership of Grace Chapel Church continues to abuse a grieving mother, a sexually abused daughter, and the loyal friends of Angie and Gracie Solomon, as the “child sex abuse – murder cover-up” continues with no end in sight. To learn more about Attorney Larry Crain and the John Perry-Mike Huckabee child sex abuse cover-up with numerous connections to Christ Presbyterian Academy, Covenant Presbyterian Church, Gov. Bill Lee and First Lady Maria Lee, the substantiated child sex abuse of Gracie Solomon, and the murder of Grant Solomon, visit The Silent Bell web site: <https://www.thesilentbell.org>

On Aug 11, 2021, about eight weeks after Attorney W. Tyler Weiss and Attorney Larry Crain sent retaliation intimidation letters to silence supporters of Gracie and Grant Solomon, Attorney Todd McMurry sent at least one retaliatory “cease and desist” letter to Ms. Melanie Hicks, and possibly to others, who were also possibly sued by Aaron Solomon. Attorney Todd McMurry represents Aaron Solomon’s loyal friend, Sam Johnson, who returned to the “homicide” scene with Aaron Solomon to provide Grant’s grieving mother “false information” about eight days after the murder of Grant Solomon.

Attorney Todd McMurry sent Ms. Melanie Hicks a retaliatory “cease and desist” letter on behalf of Grace Chapel Church Founding Pastor Steve Berger, a long-time friend of Aaron Solomon. Attorney Todd McMurry sent Ms. Hicks a retaliatory “cease and desist” letter a few weeks before Pastor Steve Berger announced he was resigning from Grace Chapel leadership. Attorney Todd McMurry did not send a “cease and desist” letter to 14-year old Gracie Solomon who actually made numerous allegations against Aaron Solomon, Pastor Steve Berger, Grace Chapel, and Grace Christian Academy.

On Sept 26, 2021, about six weeks after Attorney Todd McMurtry sent a threatening “cease and desist” letter to Grace Christian Academy mother, Melanie Hicks, and about four weeks after Pastor Steve Berger resigned from Grace Chapel Church during the on-going “child sex abuse – murder” cover-up, Carrie Underwood performed at a Grace Christian Academy private benefit to help raise money for a new multi-million dollar high school building and gym project. Grace Christian Academy father, Aaron Solomon, is a former WSMV TV sports reporter and news anchor, and he did interview Carrie Underwood’s husband, former Nashville Predator Mike Fisher, on The Aaron Solomon radio show. Aaron Solomon’s 16-year-old daughter, Gracie Solomon, no longer attends Grace Christian Academy as the “child sex abuse – murder” cover-up continues at Grace Christian Academy, Grace Chapel Church, WSMV TV, and elsewhere.

On Nov. 10, 2011, three months after Attorney Todd McMurtry sent Ms. Melanie Hicks a threatening retaliatory “cease and desist letter” during the on-going “child sex abuse – murder cover-up,” Gov. Bill Lee, the Tennessee Legislature, corporate owned news organizations, and many others, were invited to a candlelight vigil to honor the memory of murder victim, Grant Solomon. No elected public servants attended the candlelight vigil, but reporters Alex Willis (Williamson Home Page) and Liam Adams (The Tennessean) did attend the vigil. Almost twenty-seven months after the murder of Grant Solomon, the “child sex abuse – murder” cover-up continues, along with the related John Perry – Mike Huckabee child sex abuse cover-up, with numerous connections to Gov. Bill Lee, First Lady Maria Lee, Attorney Larry Crain, GCA Principal Richard Anderson, and other connections.

On Nov. 26, 2021, about two weeks after the candlelight vigil at the State Capitol, Ms. Melanie Hicks sent a 6-page letter to Gov. Bill Lee to request an investigation into the death of 18-year-old Grant Solomon. To read the letter and to watch two videos, go to these links:

On Dec 2, 2021, six days after Ms. Melanie Hicks sent her six-page letter to Gov. Bill Lee, a copy of the same six-page letter was provided to the Tennessee Supreme Court. The six-page letter and other Grant and Gracie Solomon alleged “child sex abuse – murder cover-up” information was provided to the Tennessee Supreme Court via an appeal on another child sex abuse cover-up case with numerous connections to Attorney Larry Crain, Gov. Bill Lee and First Lady Maria Lee, Grace Chapel Church, GCA High School Principal Richard Anderson, Christ Presbyterian Academy, Covenant Presbyterian Church, and many others.

Justice Cornelia Clark was deceased when the six-page letter was provided to the Court.

The Tennessee Supreme Court was provided the six-page letter as an exhibit with a timely “error” motion, but it is unknown if the four remaining Tennessee Supreme Court Justices ever saw the letter since the Clerk of the Appellate Court, James M. Hivner, returned both copies of the timely “error” motion back to Appellant Austin Davis. If the Tennessee Supreme Court has not read the timely “error” motion, Appellant Austin Davis remains hopeful that the Tennessee Supreme Court will someday read the timely motion, along with the other motions and exhibits which included information about John Perry, Aaron Solomon, Attorney Larry Crain, Gracie Solomon, and Grant Solomon.

On Feb. 3, 2022, about two months after Ms. Melanie Hicks sent a 6-page letter to Gov. Bill Lee, news reporter Alex Willis asked Gov. Bill Lee during a press conference if he had received the 6-page letter from Ms. Melanie Hicks. Gov. Bill Lee utilized his “talking points” as advised by Gov. Bill Lee’s former chief legal counsel, Jonathan Skrmetti, to respond during an on-going child sex abuse – murder cover-up: “So, uh, whenever I receive a letter like that, and it’s been several months, I may have received a letter... with regard to that, then, that letter moves on to our, either Department of Safety, appropriately so, or legal services, to determine if there is any reason for our engagement there, and I, I, trust the investigative process there, and wouldn’t have anything else to say about that .” To watch the Gov. Aaron Solomon – Accused Murderer

Grant Solomon's Homicide Scene

Twenty-seven months after the “murder” of Grant Solomon, Aaron Solomon’s long-time friend, Pastor Steve Berger, is scheduled to appear at Belmont University with his good friend, former CIA Director and Secretary of State, Mike Pompeo, on Nov. 14, 2022. To date, Pastor Steve Berger still supports Aaron Solomon and the “child sex abuse – murder cover-up” to the great harm and detriment of Grant Solomon’s mother, little sister, and their loyal friends and supporters.

Belmont University is already protecting Belmont Dean Bryce Sullivan and the John Perry – Mike Huckabee child sex abuse cover-up, which includes the institutional abuse of former Belmont-Harpeth Hall student, Daisy Davis. Belmont University and Belmont Board Member, Lee Beaman, are now connected to the Grant Solomon murder cover-up, which further concealed the now substantiated child sex abuse of Grant’s little sister, Gracie Solomon. On Oct 24, 2022, Pastor Steve Berger and Belmont Board Member, Lee Beaman, worshipped standing next to each other at an Ambassador Services International (ASI) event at Liberty Hall in The Factory at Franklin. Lee Beaman was the former secretary of the Montgomery Bell Academy Board in 2017 when child sex abuse whistleblower and MBA father, Austin Davis, was wrongfully arrested and jailed for 18-days in retaliation for speaking out about connections between the John Perry child sex abuse cover-up, the alleged Brentwood Academy gang rape case, and the rape of a 3-year-old child at Fellowship Bible Church. All three cases have connections to Attorney Larry Crain, and are now connected to the murder of former Ensworth-GCA student, Grant Solomon, who tried to protect his little sister, Gracie Solomon.

To date, it is unknown if Ensworth father, Lee Beaman, is a friend of former Ensworth father, Aaron Solomon, but both men attended Grace Chapel Church, and both men were friends with Pastor Steve Berger. In the photograph above, Lee Beaman is standing under the A on the front row. Steve Berger is standing under the S on the front row.

Twenty-seven months after the “murder” of Grant Solomon, Aaron Solomon’s long-time friend, Pastor Steve Berger, is scheduled to host former White House Chief of Staff Mark Meadows and Sen. Bill Hagerty at “The Freedom Summit” ASI fundraiser in Washington D.C. on Nov. 17 – 20, 2022. To date, Pastor Steve Berger still supports Aaron Solomon and the “child sex abuse – murder cover-up” to the great harm and detriment of Grant Solomon’s mother, little sister, and their loyal friends and supporters.

EPILOGUE

Gov. Bill Lee is actively projecting a national public image that he is concerned about surging crime in America. However, Gov. Bill Lee is still protecting the rigged secret murder grand jury of former Tennessee Titans Quarterback, Steve McNair, the murder of Grant Solomon, and a child sex abuse spider web which includes the John Perry – Mike Huckabee child sex abuse cover-up which began during the 2008 Presidential Election cycle. To learn more about Steve McNair's unsigned secret grand jury report, and the unreported crime spree in Tennessee, visit The Silent Bell web site: <https://www.thesilentbell.org/>

Gov. Bill Lee's TBI recently revealed an 11-month backlog of rape kits in Tennessee, which inherently protects child-molesters and rapists all across the state.

Maria & I are heartbroken by the tragic death of Eliza Fletcher, a dedicated teacher, wife & mother of two. We lift the Fletcher family up in prayer during this time of unspeakable grief. I thank law enforcement for their tireless efforts & trust justice will be swift & severe.

Governor Bill Lee

Rape and child sex abuse are not new problems in the state of Tennessee, or America. Anyone who reads the Davidson County grand jury reports will see the comments of shocked citizen grand jurors who repeatedly identify the epidemic of child sex abuse as an issue of paramount importance. Child sex abuse whistleblower, Austin Davis, has been speaking out about the John Perry – Mike Huckabee child sex abuse cover-up since the summer of 2012, but Austin Davis has been silenced, criminalized and jailed twice in retaliation. Austin Davis is a MUS classmate and former basketball teammate of Mr. Beasley Wellford of Memphis, the father of recent murder victim, Ms. Liza Fletcher. Austin Davis is also a friend of Dr. Angie Huffines Solomon, and substantiated child sex abuse victim, Gracie Solomon, mother and sister of murder victim, Grant Solomon. If Gov. Bill Lee and Tennessee law enforcement would do their jobs and not protect child molesters and sex predators, and if the TBI would do their job and not have an 11-month rape kit backlog, Ms. Liza Fletcher would still be alive in Memphis, and Grant Solomon would still be alive in Nashville. In closing, there are no adequate words to express the human sorrow and love felt for both of these families. May the grace of Christ comfort the families and friends of Ms. Liza Fletcher, and Mr. Grant Solomon, and all other victims of crime in Tennessee, and beyond Tennessee.

Child sex abuse whistleblower and MBA father, Austin Davis, was wrongfully arrested and silenced in retaliation for exposing the repeated child sex abuse of an 11-year-old victim by protected child-molester, John Perry. Austin Davis remains hopeful he will not be arrested and jailed a third time for speaking out about the “murder” of 18-year old, Grant Solomon, who tried to protect his little sister, Gracie.
