Australia electric car market is projected to show an exponential growth rate during the forecast period. The electric car market is at a preliminary stage in the country and very few car models are available in the market which includes Tesla Model S, 3, and X, Hyundai Kona, Nissan Leaf, and Jaguar I-Pace. Moreover, the electric car share in the automobile market is less than 1% each year which is very low as compared to developed economies all across the globe including Germany, UK, Norway, Japan, and others. Due to the small market size, car sales in the country have almost doubled to around 5,000 in 2019. One of the major restraints to market growth is the lack of any major subsidy on the electric vehicle in the country.
