Leonardo da Vinci Inventions

Article by Owen Lowe, Kalynn Pease and Isabella Sims

FES 4th-6th graders are studying Leonardo da Vinci, but not only what he painted. They are studying what he invented too! Did you know he was the inventor of the flying kite, helicopter, machine gun and the catapult? He kept his invention ideas in a notebook and FES kids have been writing down their thoughts into notebooks too. The art room is filled with paper towel rolls, duct tape, cardboard and anything else you would need for an invention prototype. Mrs. Ishmael was inspired to teach this because Renaissance art is the timeline they are currently studying and Leonardo is a part of this timeline. She likes how they can come up with such big ideas with such few materials. Mrs. Ishmael is very proud of her students.

We interviewed students in Mrs. Johnson's class. Here are some thoughts they had about the project. "We thought a robot that would inspire kids to throw away trash in a fun and cool way would be good. The base is cardboard and the trashcan is made of cardboard, tape, a big pipe that leads to the mouth, and then to the trashcan. You can empty it from the back. Aubrey Jones came up with the robot idea and the group came up with the trash can."

cause they love glasses and pictures. They took a few photos then asked the team if they liked it. If they were not so good at seeing, they could use their device to take pictures.

A 6th grade group said, "We enjoyed it and learned about the history of Leonardo Da Vinci." After the group sketched drawings of what he invented, they were able to come up with many ideas like a weaponized watch, a transforming airplane, and a holographic phone. All students at FES are very lucky to have this opportunity with our very special art teacher Mrs. Ishmael. The inventions of Leonardo De Vinci have inspired these students to become inventors just as he was!

Sapp's Scoop

By: Emily Sapp

Recycling is something we all learned about since the day we started kindergarten. Recycling is the process of converting waste materials into reusable objects to prevent waste of potentially usable materials. Natural resources such as timber, water, and minerals are conserved through the process as well. Agriculture is majorly affected by recycling. When you recycle, you are reducing the amount of natural resources we consume as a society on a daily, weekly, monthly, and yearly basis, which adds up in the end. With the world's expected population growth within the next few years, our amount of resources we have left are declining and the amount we are using is increasing. Things such as trees are used for a variety of reasons, such as paper, fire wood, wood for decorations, and even the air we breathe. Recycling also saves energy by reducing the need to make materials from scratch. Making products from scratch can be labor intensive and can be expensive also. Did you know that recycling one ton of paper can save 7,000 gallons of water. Also, every year over 100,000 marine animals are killed by consuming or becoming tangled in plastics bags. To produce one ton of newspaper requires 24 trees. Reduce, Reuse, & Recycle. Thank you for keeping up with this week's Sapp Scoop!
