

May Intake at UK Universities – What You Need To Know

We're getting close to the start of the UK university admissions season, which means a fresh batch of students. Several colleges and universities in the UK are taking advantage of the May intake to sign up more students. This is so they can keep up with the growing demand for higher education.

The September intake is the busiest time of the year for UK institutions. College results are made public to prospective students and their families at the start of May. Additionally, it is the final opportunity for pupils to apply to colleges before clearance begins. In this blog, we're going to look at some of the typical and significant aspects of the May intake in UK institutions.

Exactly why do universities in the UK welcome new students in the month of May?

Foreign students have a preference for the January intake in the United Kingdom over the mid-intake in the UK in 2023, which will mark the start of the summer semester in the United Kingdom. Most foreign students who want to return for a second semester take those months off, since the academic year starts then.

Even though there are fewer universities in the UK that accept mid-intake 2023 students and fewer degrees available, there are a few reasons to choose this intake for 2023. These reasons are explained below.

Institution of Higher Learning in Coventry

The QS has awarded Coventry University a distinguished five-star rating, placing it among the world's top 600–650 institutions. Coventry University has been named as one of the world's top 200 institutions by Times Higher Education. It holds the third spot in the UK rankings.

Coventry University is now taking applications from international students who want to start there in May 2023.

Unexpectedly, more than 15,500 of the total student body of almost 34,000 are from outside the United States. According to the QS Rankings 2022, the university's high number of foreign students places it in the top 30 worldwide.

Kent University

At the University of Kent in Canterbury, the United Kingdom, there are now more than 3,500 foreign students studying from more than 150 different countries. The postgraduate centres for the institution are located in both London and Brussels. The Complete University Guide 2022 put the University of Kent in the top 50. It has high-quality education and facilities that meet the needs of the business world. It is now ranked 383rd globally in the QS World University Rankings for 2022 and is one of the top 50 universities in the United Kingdom.

Northumbria College

The city campus of Northumbria University is in Newcastle upon Tyne. It is a public university that serves the North East of England. According to THE's Young University Rankings 2021, Northumbria University is one of the top 100 universities in the world. It is one of the top 700 universities in the world as of the 2022 edition of the QS World University Rankings.

London's Brunel University

The QS World University Rankings for 2022 place Brunel University London, which is located in the United Kingdom, at 351.

More than 5,300 of the university's more than 13,000 students are from other countries. This makes the campus in beautiful Uxbridge, West London, a lively, cosmopolitan place. One of the institutions with the greatest attention in the world is Brunel University London, which was recognized in the Times Higher Education World University Rankings 2022.

Ulster College

Ulster University is in the range of 651–700 on the QS Top Universities list for 2022 because it does a lot of research. More than 90% of Ulster University graduates are either working or going back to school six months after they graduate. More than 1,800 of a total of 25,000 pupils are foreign-born.

Ulster University is ranked among the top 50 institutions for the first time in the Complete University Guide (CUG) 2022 League Table's 15-year history.

London's Richmond University

London's Richmond University is renowned for its flexibility and range of academic offerings. Richmond University's core values include internationalism, personal attention, small class sizes, and significant scholarships. Its student population is truly international, representing more than 100 different nations.

School of Hertfordshire

The University of Hertfordshire was rated 99th in the Times University Guide and ranked 103rd in the Guardian University Guide for 2021. The Teaching Excellence and Student Outcomes Framework (TEF) gave the University of Hertfordshire a gold medal for its great academic performance in the UK.

The Guardian University Award for Outstanding Student Experience was given to the University of Hertfordshire in 2015.

University of Teesside

In the last 20 years, Teesside University has grown to offer more than 270 full-time programs and 145 sandwich/placement programs in a wide range of fields, such as computer science, sociology, art history, engineering, biology, and more.

The institution was ranked 87th in the Times/Sunday Times and 68th in the Guardian University Guide in 2021.

Teesside University staff members received seven National Teaching Fellowships, which contributed to the school's achievement of Silver rank in the TEF.

Keele College

The Research Excellence Framework (REF) 2021 says that 80% of the university's research is either world-leading or excellent around the world.

Also, the Student Crowd University Awards 2022 named Keele Institution the best university in the UK. Keele University is ranked between 501 and 600 in Times Higher Education's 2022 global university rankings, which places it in the lowest 50 percent of all institutions worldwide.

If we examine the university's ranking in the UK, we see that it is among the top 100 institutions there. Keele University is ranked 48th by The Guardian and 58th by The Complete University Guide for the year 2022.

Keele University will be rated 751–800 by QS in 2022 and 2023.

Final Reflections

It might be challenging to choose the correct subject since university admissions are competitive. But if you really want to go to a UK university with admissions in May 2023, you can increase your chances of getting in by making a plan and knowing all the steps you need to take to enroll in the program you want at the university you want.

Are you thinking of continuing your studies in the UK? If so, you should probably learn about the requirements for admission to a UK mid-intake institution. Even though some requirements are the same for all schools, it's a good idea to look into each one before sending in an application because they all have different needs.

We hope that this information will be helpful to you as you choose where to study in the UK for the May 2023 intake. Keep in touch with AHZ members to learn about new opportunities and the most recent news in UK higher education. Your admission to prestigious UK institutions will be facilitated by our expertise.